EYEN'S TAVERN ORDERED PADLOCKED

Kingsford-Smith Lands His Plane Safely In Honolulu

S. Y. A. PLACE IS 'NUISANCE,' SAYS CHAPPELL

District Judge Grants Injunction Asked by County Attorney Towle—Defense Attorney Ledwith Plans Appeal—Says Hard Liquor Brought by Patrons Causes Trouble.

The Abe Eyen beer tavern on the S. Y. A. will be padlocked, according to dictates of an injunction order signed Monday morning by District Judge E. B. Chappell in which he declares that "the business conducted on the premises is a nuisance, is injurious and dangerous to the health, comfort and property of the citizens of Lancaster county, and has caused the property in vicinity of the premises to decrease in value.'

"The business conducted by the defendant is detrimental to the morals of the patrons of the premises," the decree stated.

The injunction is the result of a suit brought by County Attorney Max G. Towle which was tried slightly over a week ago.

John J. Ledwith, who represented Eyen, said he probably would appeal the case in order to settle the points of law involved.

"The Eyen case is not unusual in its aspects," Ledwith said. "We are confronted with a problem common to all of Nebraska and due to the bootleggers who are allowed to operate virtually unrestrained. Testimony in the Eyen case clearly showed that it is the hard liquor which people purchase and bring into such taverns to drink which is the source of the trouble. The Supreme court should pass on the power of public officers to regulate such matters by making proprietors of such establishments as Eyen's suffer because of the illegal sale of liquor which is clearly beyond their control."

The hearing on Towle's application for an injunction was held Thursday, October 19. Then, when Merle Headrick was killed early Friday morning, October 20 by being struck down by a car driven by Helen Northup after both had been at the tavern, though with different parties, Towle asked that he be allowed to reopen the hearing. This was permitted without objection by the defense counsel, and further evidence—some of it touching on the fatal accident—was presented Monday, October 22. Miss Northup has since been charged with manslaughter. She pleaded not guilty and was released on bond pending preliminary hearing.

County's Auto Toll For Year Reaches 20

Death of Miss Rosemary Hennessey, 18, of Raymond Sunday night from complications resulting from injuries received in an automobile accident on October 22 brought Lancaster county's 1934 automobile death toll to 20, just one short of the record number of 21 in 1933. Only 13 persons had been killed in automobile accidents during the same period last year, in which the new record of 21 automobile fatalities was set.

INJURIES FATAL MISS HENNESSEY

Raymond Girl, 18, Dies Week After Accident; Others Recovering.

Complications resulting from injuries received in an automobile crash on October 22 proved fatal to Miss Rosemary Hennessey, 18, of Raymond at 8:50 o'clock Sunday evening.

Cerebral meningitis, which developed early Friday morning, caused the girl's death, according to Dr. George Lewis, who attended her at St. Elizabeth's hospital. The girl suffered a fracture of the skull, a fractured left leg between the knee and the hip in the automobile collision.

Miss Hennessey was riding in a car driven by Thedral Micham, 19, of Raymond which collided head-on with an automobile driven by Mrs. H. L. Marshall, 45, 636 North Twenty-seventh street, at the Tenth and Oak streets intersection of the S. Y. A. highway about 11:30 o'clock last Sunday night. Seven other persons were injured in the accident.

Mrs. H. L. Marshall, 45, 636 North Twenty-seventh street, one of the accident victims, was reported much improved Monday and Dr. J. J. Loomis said he believed she is out of danger. Others injured in the crash also improving.

Nebraska and Wyoming May Swap Chairs For Shirts and Overalls

Wicker furniture made by inmates of state institutions was the object of a visit Monday by Mrs. Minnie J. Martin, superintendent of the girls' industrial school at Sheridan, Wyo. A possible trade of Nebraska-made furniture for Wyoming manufactured shirts and overalls was discussed said Mrs. Nellie Benson, of the state board of control, but no action was taken.

$100,806 Paid City For Hospital Bonds

Payment of $100,806.67 Monday was made to the city by the Continental National bank for $100,000 in Lincoln General hospital refunding bonds delivered to the bank by City Clerk Berg. Half of the bonds carried a 2¼ per cent interest rate and the other $50,000 a 3 per cent rate. The payment included the interest and a $165 premium payment.

SERVICE CHARGE CASE IS GIVEN THREE JUDGES

Involves Rural Patrons Of Electrical Power Companies.

A three judge federal court, composed of Judges Woodrough, Munger and Donohoe, Monday heard arguments on the request of the Southern Nebraska Power company for an injunction prohibiting the state railway commission and Attorney General Good from enforcing a rural rate reduction order.

Oral arguments presented by Ralph E. Svoboda and B. F. Napheys, jr., for the plaintiffs and by Edwin Vail, assistant attorney general, for the state, climaxed some two months of preliminary

TEN LINCOLN PEOPLE HURT IN COLLISION

Three In Hospital As Result Auto Crash Near Denton.

Ten persons were injured, two perhaps seriously, when cars driven by Harry L. Schrader, 37, 1025 South Thirty-first street, and E. A. Pegler, 67, 2636 Lake street, collided near the Denton CCC camp, late Sunday afternoon.

The injured were brought to St. Elizabeth's hospital, all but three were released after being treated.

Those still in the hospital are:

Miss Helen Hansen, 27, 1027 Garfield street, may be seriously injured with possible fracture of vertebrae. She is being attended by Dr. George Lewis.

Mrs. Peter Hansen, 62, mother of Helen, fractured nose and injury to left leg. Attended by Dr. Lewis.

Mrs. Anna Wilkinson, 65, 2640 Lake street, may be seriously injured with fractured ribs, laceration on the lower lip and badly lacerated face. Her advanced age and weakened heart condition may make her condition serious, according to Dr. J. Stanley Welch, who is attending her.

All Resting Easy.

All three were reported resting easy Monday.

Pegler told Deputy Sheriff Craig, who investigated the crash, that high banks through which the road is cut obstructed the view from both cars. He was driving south and the Schrader automobile was going east.

None of the other seven persons was badly injured. Mr. Schrader suffered a crushing injury to his chest, but was released after being treated by Dr. Lewis.

Mrs. H. L. Schrader, 33, wife of the driver, received a blood clot over one eye but was also released.

Lois Schrader, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Schrader, received lacerations on the left shoulder, under the chin and on the forehead.

Mr. Pegler, driver of the other car, suffered a bad laceration on his right hand but was released after being treated by Dr. Welch.

Mrs. Lenora Pegler, 65, wife of E. A. Pegler, suffered a fracture of one bone of the foot and bruises. She was attended by Dr. Welch.

Mrs. Elizabeth Rhime, 45, 5845 Huntington avenue, sprained ankle. Treated by Dr. Welch.

Darlene Schrader, daughter of H. L. Schrader, bruised.

All the Schraders and both Hansens were riding in the car driven by Mr. Schrader. Mr. and Mrs. Pegler, Mrs. Wilkinson and Mrs. Rhime were riding in the car driven by Mr. Pegler.

U. S. COMPLETES ITS INSULL CASE

Government Suddenly Rests In Trial of 17 On Mail Fraud Charge.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29—(AP)—The government today rested its case in the trial of Samuel Insull and his 16 co-defendants accused of mail fraud in the collapse of the $150,000,000 Corporation Securities Co. of Chicago. The trial began 27 days ago.

The end of the government's presentation of evidence came with dramatic suddenness as Dwight H. Green, United States district attorney, completed a reading to the jury of the minutes of the last meeting of the Corporation Securities Co. in which it was unanimously voted not to fight the petition of Frank B. Schoenman for the appointment of a receiver for the company.

The defense was taken by surprise by the government's sudden action.

Counsel for Stanley Field, one of the defendants, immediately began to read to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson a motion for a directed verdict of not guilty for his client.

Opening statements by other defense attorneys probably will follow the presentation of motions for directed verdicts.

Norris Speaks To Crowd At Deshler

DESHLER, Neb., Oct. 29.—(AP)—United States Senator George W. Norris, enemy of the "power trust" visited the new municipal light plant here Sunday. The plant will be put in operation November 7. Norris came here to speak on his plan for a one house state legislature and addressed an estimated 2,000 persons. While here he also visited the cooperative creamery and ice plant, a mausoleum plant and the broom factory which now is employing more than 200 persons.

Opening of West O Cutoff Monday Last Link In Giving City One of Country's Best Boulevard Drives

The new paved cutoff west of Lincoln on U. S. highway No. 6, which completes the improvements on that route in and near Lincoln in course of construction the past year, was opened to traffic Monday forenoon and will hereafter be the regular line of travel for all motor vehicles entering the city on the west.

A mile-long section of the old highway through Lakeview is now abandoned except for local use. Four sharp turns and two blocks of extra distance are eliminated by the cutoff, and in addition traffic is taken away from a populated district to a stretch of open country where accident hazards will be greatly lessened.

40-Mile Straightaway.

This new piece of paving completes the last link in a continuous section of highway 40 miles long without a single turn on the line of O street running through the middle of Lincoln. The pavement now extends from the Elmwood turn 22 miles east of Lincoln to the Milford turn 18 miles west. When the paving is completed to Union, it will run on a bee line a little more than 60 miles—one of the longest sections of straight hard-surfaced highway to be found in the United States.

In conjunction with the opening of the cutoff, Governor Bryan voiced his congratulations to the city of Lincoln on the completion of the last of the O street improvements begun in the fall of 1933 according to a comprehensive plan. The work was financed with federal funds, supplemented by paving assessments

O. K. REDUCTION CITY LIGHT RATE

Council Believes Action To Cause Increased Consumption.

New electrical rates proposed by Commissioner Paul W. Doerr, were approved by the city council Monday, along with a resolution ordering the clerk to return to the contractors who built the Ashland water extension project, the retainers which they had posted. An emergency ordinance granting the council authority to issue theaters temporary permits for marquee signs, was also passed.

The new electrical rates, effective December 1, for payment on January 1 bills, will increase consumption, it is believed. Provision also is made that city departments will be furnished current at cost. This is being done, Doerr said on the understanding that park lights be burned during the winter. The plan also will provide street lights

12 NEW HIGHWAY PROJECTS WILL COST $390,000

Bryan Announces Work To Be Included In Nov. 16 Letting.

Twelve more highway projects, to be paid for with federal funds, involving an estimated total expenditures of $390,000, were announced Monday for inclusion in the letting set for November 16. Several days ago, a list of smaller projects which the state will finance with gasoline tax funds, costing about $59,000, was given out and bids thereon were called for on the same date.

The state engineer's office, Governor Bryan said, is getting plans ready for still another batch of highway improvements to be advertised for bids on an early date in December.

The group just made public, and on which federal funds will be used, embraces the following:

Pavement.

In Fairmont 1.1 miles in Schuyler, from junction of state highways 15 and 30 northward to city limits, .5 mile; in Shelby.

Grading and Structures.

Blair southwest toward Kennard, 4.1 miles.
Broken Bow southeast to Burlington railroad crossing, 4.3 miles.

HURT WHEN CAR TIPS OFF HOIST

Alvoy Kite Suffers Leg Injury In Accident At College View.

Caught beneath the car which toppled over on him from a hydraulic grease hoist, Alvoy Kite, 21, 4620 Stockwell street, suffered a painful crushing injury to his left leg about 10 o'clock Monday morning at the E. J. Gotfredson Motor company, 4714 Prescott avenue.

Kite was taken to Bailey's sanatorium where x-ray examination revealed no fractures, attendants said.

Just before the accident occurred, young Kite had finished greasing a light sedan belonging to J. H. Bradley, College View banker. The hoist was bringing the car to the driveway and was about four feet from the ground level when Kite jumped to the running board of the sedan, apparently to check the speedometer mileage for an oil re-fill.

Thrown Off Balance.

The sudden addition of the young man's weight was enough to throw the machine off balance, toppling it back over Kite. Kite jumped backwards and nearly succeeded in getting clear of the falling sedan but his foot struck a automobile jack and he fell. The car crushed his leg across the jack and pinned him to the ground.

Gotfredson, proprietor of the garage, and Kite's brother, Milford, lifted the sedan from the injured youth. The car was not badly damaged.

A. & P. WORKERS ASK ROOSEVELT TO INTERVENE

Grocery Chain Closes 300 Cleveland Stores In Labor Dispute.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 29—(AP)—President Roosevelt was called on by Employes of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. chain stores in Cleveland and suburbs to intervene in the dispute with seven local unions which resulted in the closing of approximately 300 stores and two warehouses.

The request was referred to the national labor relations board.

Approximately 2,200 employes had no work today because of the closing order, as mediators sought to get officials of the grocery chain to rescind its decision to abandon Cleveland business operations.

As some 400 employes gathered at the company's Croton avenue, warehouse, there was much activity inside. Foodstuff and equipment was being loaded aboard freight cars for shipment to other cities. It was at the warehouses that picketing was started last week, which officials of the company said, prevented movement of merchandise by trucks to stores, and resulted in the closing order.

The employes who gathered at the warehouse today endorsed a resolution, written by L. A. Yesberger of the bakery department, in which it was declared that the employes "are not affiliated or desirous of being affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, not because of intimidation but because of certain policies" of the labor movement.

The resolution said the "tactics of the A. F. of L. and the indif-

GIVE LUNCHEON HONOR COCHRAN

200 Friends, Members of Both Parties, Attend Affair Monday Noon.

R. L. Cochran, democratic candidate for governor, was honored by more than 200 Lincoln friends at a testimonial luncheon Monday noon at the Cornhusker hotel. The luncheon was a non-political affair, tendered Cochran by his friends as a token of their esteem.

"It is a matter of gratification to me, that an old friend, Mayor Zehrung, a republican in politics, is presiding at this gathering," said Cochran in an address broadcast before the luncheon. "He bespeaks the non-political character of it. He voices the friendship which it represents. And it is, as I have said, typical of my experience in this campaign. I say to you again, that I am grateful and that as I enter the closing days of this campaign I carry with me the inspiration of my friends."

"Politics is like a poker game," said Zehrung in presenting the democratic gubernatorial candidate, "friendship is usually forgotten at the deal; but republicans and democrats alike, we are here as the friends of Roy Cochran. We wish him every success, win, lose or draw.

"I will say, however, that if Roy Cochran gives just one-half the service, attention, and hard work to the governorship that he has to the job of state engineer, no one in Lincoln or the state will ever have cause to regret voting for him."

Edward R. Burke, democratic candidate for senator, was a guest at the luncheon. Introduced by Mayor Zehrung, Burke declined to speak, preferring to be "just a guest at a luncheon in Roy Cochran's honor."

Cochran spoke during the morning at Waverly when the democratic campaign caravan touring the county stopped there. He resumed the tour during the afternoon speaking at several towns.

Monday evening, Cochran was to address a democratic rally at the Lincoln hotel at 7:45 o'clock.

PHANTOM SLUGGER STRIKES ANOTHER COLORADO CO-ED

BOULDER, Colo., Oct. 29—(AP)—Mystery surrounding the vicious attacks of a phantom slugger on nine University of Colorado co-eds here was unsolved today as police redoubled their efforts to catch the assailant after the most recent attack, reported Sunday.

"We're going to catch the slugger if we have to turn the town upside down," Chief of Police R. C. Prather said.

FLIERS MAKE NON-STOP HOP OF 3,100 MILES

Noted Australian Birdman and His Navigator, Enroute to California, Successfully Complete Hazardous Over Ocean Flight From Suva, Fiji.

KINGSFORD-SMITH.

HONOLULU, Oct. 29—(AP)—Completing one of the most difficult over ocean flights in the world, Wing Commander Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith arrived today from Naselai beach, Fiji, enroute to California.

With Capt. P. G. Taylor, his navigator, Sir Charles, who in 1928 astounded the world by flying from Oakland to Sydney, Australia, took off from Fiji at 6.05 a. m., Suva time, (12:05 a. m., Sunday, Lincoln time).

The Lady Southern Cross roared out of the southeast today as dawn broke over Hawaii and struck the Hawaiian archipelago amidships at the island of Molokai.

From there he swung northward to land at Wheeler field, the army air base, a score of miles from here.

Just before then he messaged his change of course over last 80 miles of the flight and said he was reeling in his radio antenna.

He landed at Wheeler field at 8:30 a. m., (1:10 p. m., Lincoln time) after a flight of 3,197 miles.

The plane swooped cleanly to the field. After the all-day and all-night flight, in which Kingsford-Smith and his navigator, cut across both the equator and the international date line, they came in "under wraps,' 'throttling the motor to approximately 100 miles an hour for the last 300 miles of the flight.

A crowd of about a thousand hung leis of fragrant flowers about the necks of the aviators as,

Rev. John Fanning Is Critically Ill

Rev. Father John Fanning, recently assigned assistant priest at Ulysses is critically ill at St. Elizabeth's hospital from bronchial pneumonia. Father Fanning was ordained in Lincoln by Bishop L. B. Kucera last July and was assigned to Ulysses, where he immediately became well-liked by parishoners. He is 28 years old.

Father Fanning was taken seriously sick while attending the seminary at St. Paul, Minn., and it caused a delay in his ordination. He became ill over two weeks ago and was brought to St. Elizabeth's. Sunday afternoon his condition was pronounced as extremely dangerous, and Father Barnes administered the rites of the church. His condition remained unchanged Monday. Father Fanning's two sisters and brother from Davenport, Ia., are at his bedside.

ROBINSON WINS COURT BATTLE

Justice Department To Ask Removal For Stoll Kidnap Trial.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 29—(AP)—U. S. Commissioner Julian Campbell ruled today that Thomas H. Robinson, sr., may not be removed to Louisville for trial on charges linking him with the kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Stoll, and ordered him released.

"From all the facts before me," Commissioner Campbell said in a prepared opinion, "I find not only that there is no probable cause to believe Thomas Henry Robinson, sr., guilty, but no fact to reasonably believe a suspicion of his guilt."

His son, Thomas H. Robinson, jr., is sought as the actual kidnaper.

"The government admits that this defendant is only sought for trial at Louisville, Ky., on what he did or might have done before the acual kidnaping as a conspirator," the opinion added.

Later, at Washington, the justice department said it would apply to a federal District court in Tennesse eto remove the elder Robinson to Kentucky to stand trial.

As Rogers Sees It

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Oct. 29 — Football was the headliner over the late news. Huey Long joined Louisiana and annexed Tennessee. Yale and Harvard can get the rich socialites, they just can't seem to get a good line. It looks like the army and navy both got good teams, and I hereby make this motion, a congressional motion, that if they both breeze through, and even after playing each other, and if it's a good, close game, that both teams be brought out to the Rose Bowl.

It would be a new and great thing to see two football teams meet twice in a season and see what happened (baseball teams play each other 22 games each season). It would be a shame to bring one team out and not the other. Do I hear a seconder?

Yours, WILL.

First Thought of Girl, 12, Burned Badly, Is About Return to School

Martha Cox 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Cox, 810 South Twenty-seventh street, was severely burned Monday morning when a flash back through an open furnace door set fire to her clothing.

Martha had gone to the basement about 7:30 o'clock, according to her sister-in-law, Mrs. E. T. Cox, to light a gas water heater. Not finding any matches, the child opened the furnace door to light a wad of paper which she was going to use as a match, and a sheet of fire from the furnace enveloped her. She ran screaming up the steps leading to the kitchen and was nearly at the top when Mrs Cox and her father reached her. Cox tore the blazing dress from the child and rubbed out her burning hair but not before Martha was severely burned on the back, chest, hands and face. Dr George E. Lewis was summoned and said that while the burns were painful it would be impossible to tell for two or three days how deep they were. The child remained conscious throughout and Monday afternoon at the home, smiled an "I feel pretty well," to a Star reporter.

According to her sister-in-law, Martha's first words were, "I won't be able to go to school today, will I?" She is a student at Twenty-sixth and O junior high.

The family moved into the house over the week-end. They came to Lincoln from Independence, Kas., about three months ago.

Edward Backus Dies Suddenly

NEW YORK, Oct 29—(AP)—Edward W. Backus, 74, of Minneapolis, former head of the Minnesota & Ontario Paper Co., died suddenly today in a midtown hotel. The hotel said he suffered a heart attack.

During his long career as a leading merchant and manufacturer of Minnesota he had many interests in paper mills, power companies, railroads and realty.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 29—(AP)—Edward W. Backus, who died today in New York, was one of the giants of the northwest lumber industry.

As early as 1884, when he formed the E. W. Backus Lumber Co., he was an acknowledged leader.

An involuntary receivership action was brought in Federal court and the Minnesota & Ontario Paper, parent company of all the Backus interests, was turned over to trustees in receivership.

Backus, less than a year ago brought action in the Federal court to recover control over the companies he had founded.

The action was settled a month ago when the federal District court refused his petition to remove the receivers and return control of the companies to him. The industries which he formed were worth, he estimated, some $80,000,000 when the receivership action took them off his hands.

O. K. REDUCTION CITY LIGHT RATE

at a reduced cost. Officials of the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power Co. have indicated the new rate will probably be met by that company.

The retainers to be refunded include $26,238.05 to Abel & Dobson, and Dobson & Humphries. The latter retainer is $4,031. The two years guarantee expired September 15.

Retire $98,000.

When the retainers were ordered refunded the council also ordered the clerk and treasurer to exercise a November 1 option on $32,000 of water extension bonds held by Abel & Dobson, which had been posted as a retainer in lieu of cash. The payment is to be made from earnings of the water department.

Including these securities, the city has paid off $98,000 of the original obligation, reducing the total to $1,817,000 of which $2,000 more will be paid before the end of the winter.

The sign ordinance amendment was approved by the council to permit the erection by a local theater of a marquee sign. If the sign does not conform to regulations the theater owners agree to remove it and erect a new one. Permits can be issued only by the council for not more than 60 days.

The council indicated that on-sale licenses to sell beer would be renewed to John A. Wood, 139 South Tenth street, and Alma Irene Phipps, 918 P street. November 5 was fixed as the date for hearing on the application of R. C. Weber for an on-sale license at 136 South Twelfth street.

The city clerk was directed to advertise for bids on an automobile for the electrical inspector, estimated cost $600. A coupe now in use is to be traded in.

DASCO GUILTY OF PHANTOM SLAYING AT STEEL PLANT

STEUBENVILLE, O., Oct. 29—(AP)—David Dasco, 47, sweeper for the Wheeling Steel corporation, today was convicted of the "phantom" slaying of Raymond Kochendarfer. The jury recommended mercy, making mandatory a sentence of life imprisonment.

Dasco was accused also of two other "phantom" slayings in the steel plant.

Dasco showed no emotion, continuing the stoic silence he has maintained since his arrest last July 30. He has insisted, "I no kill nobody."

Headed School Board.

She was president of the Lincoln school board in 1910 and served as a member of that board from 1906 until 1918. She was an instructor in ethics in the University of Nebraska in 1927 and also served as a lecturer in the university from 1902 until 1908. Immediately after she was married, she taught at the university from 1897 until 1899. She also lectured in psychology at the university nurses' training school from 1927 to 1932.

Before her marriage, she was a professor of psychology and ethics at Mount Holyoke college in 1896 and 1897 and prior to that time, she was an instructor in the Abbot Academy at Andover, Mass., from 1889 until 1892.

Had Two Degrees.

Mrs. Hinman received her A.B. from Wellesley in 1893 and her Ph.D. from Cornell university in 1896.

She was the author of several articles on psychology which appeared in "Mind" and the "American Journal of Psychology" during the years 1895 until 1898.

Active in church work, Mrs. Hinman was a member of the First - Plymouth Congregational church and taught the Betty Alden Sunday school class at that place. She was president of the Missionary Federation of Nebraska from 1903 until 1907. She was a member of the Congregational state board of directors from 1920 until 1923.

Active During War.

During the World war, Mrs. Hinman took an active part in the women's activities in Lincoln, designed to aid America fight the war. She was a member of the Municipal Conservation council in 1917 and was local chairman of the Women's National League for Service from 1917 until 1919.

Mrs. Hinman was chairman of the international relations committee of the American Association of University Women and also served for two terms as chairman of the educational committee of the Nebraska State Federation of Women's clubs, in addition to one term as chairman of the civics committee. She had served as chairman of the University Y. W. C. A. advisory board since 1921 and had been on the city Y. W. C. A. board since 1925.

Born In Turkey.

Mrs. Hinman was born in Constantinople, Turkey on December 20, 1868. Her father, Rev. Cyrus Hamlin, was the organizer and first president of Robert college at Constantinople as well as being a pioneer missionary and educator.

She is survived by her husband, Prof. E. L. Hinman; one daughter, Eleanor Hamlin Hinman, a social research worker; one brother, Rev. Christopher Hamlin of Washington, N. J.; and one sister, Mrs. Emma Hamlin Carleton of Haverhill, Mass. Her brother was formerly pastor at First Congregational church here.

Jiggs, Park Monkey, Gets Wicked—Smokes Pipe, Breaks Glasses

The Antelope park zoo has a monkey that smokes a pipe. Attendants didn't know it until Sunday, when Jiggs, the largest and oldest monkey in the zoo, grabbed a pipe from the mouth of an attendant. "And you should have seen him," Commissioner Oberlies said. "As soon as he got the pipe he put it in his mouth and then strutted around his cage smoking it like an old trooper."

Jiggs' penchant for smoking cost Chet Ager, park executive a pair of glasses, according to Oberlies. Ager was trying to get the pipe away from Jiggs when the monkey caught his glasses, breaking one lens and bending the frame before they could be recovered.

Parents Want Trusty Who Left Reformatory To Complete Sentence

Jack Rachwitz, 19-year-old reformatory trusty who escaped from the institution Saturday, had not been located early Monday afternoon, but Supt. Gus Miller said he felt sure the youth would be returned within a few days. Superintendent Miller said he visited the young man's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Rachwitz in Omaha Sunday and they were anxious for their son to finish his term at the reformatory. "If he comes home," Miller quoted them as saying, "we will return him ourselves."

FLIERS ARRIVE IN HONOLULU

Conquers Storm.

HONOLULU, Oct. 29—(AP)—Successfully battling through a storm the Lady Southern Cross failed to clear at 15,000 feet, Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith sped toward this mid-ocean outpost today in his 7,365 mile flight from Australia to California.

Almost without incident, Sir Charles and Capt. P. G. Taylor had negotiated more than two-thirds of this, the second leg of the flight, 3,197 miles from Suva to Honolulu, when a storm confronted them. For an hour the plane battled with the storm, then came out into the clear at 4:30 a. m., (Lincoln time) to see the moon just showing over the eastern horizon.

His message of 15 minutes before, however, told of a definite relief from the "boredom" he had expressed earlier in the flight.

"Just had a bad hour," he wirelessed. "Sa wstorm coming that we couldn't clear at 15,000 fect.... In bad rain...air feed failed and in fumbling in cockpit I knocked the switch for the wing flaps on. Imagine the result. We stalled and spun but after losing lost of height we got her under control and then found out about the flaps. All O. K. now and storm passed."

Opening of Cutoff Monday Final Link In O Street Work

paid by property owners in the downtown district.

Removal of the street car tracks the entire length of O street and repaving of the space where they had been constituted the first phase of the improvements. After that, the paving on each side of the track area was relaid and resurfaced by a PWA grant and assessments of the adjacent property from Sixteenth street west to Eighth.

New Lights.

New ornamental street lights were installed on O street beginning at Twentieth and extending westward over the railroad viaduct and along the new cutoff to and across the Salt Creek bridge. Modern traffic signal lights were put in and are now in operation at all intersections along O street from Ninth to Seventeenth, inclusive.

Some shoulder work still remains to be done on both sides of the cutoff through the Salt creek bottoms, and other roadside improvements are to be made by planting trees and shrubs. This beautification of the west approach to Lincoln is also being done by the federal government. Governor Bryan said that the U. S. bureau of public roads will not be asked to accept the work until everything is done. The plantings will be made during the fall and the early spring.

"We have had splendid cooperation all the way through from the Lincoln city and Lancaster county officials," the governor told newspaper men. "And I think all Lincoln people will agree that the federal government has been very liberal in providing these improvements. O street is now the finest boulevard drive through the main district of any city west of Chicago."

WORKERS ASK PRESIDENT'S AID

ference of the police department are responsible" for the closing of the stores.

A statewide strike of butchers employed by the A. & P. may be sought, an official of the meat cutters' union said. The union's convention occurs within a week at Columbus.

Caught in the backwash of the wrangle between the A. & P. management and members of the seven unions over unionization and the closed shop, more than 700 managers and clerks employed by the company petitioned Mayor Harry L. Davis last night to use his good offices to return them to work.

The managers and clerks belong to no unions. The workers involved are bakers, meat cutters, engineers, auto mechanics, warehousemen, clerks and firemen. Their number has not been estimated.

Strike at Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 29—(AP)—Strikes were called today among meat cutters in 47 Milwaukee chain stores after the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., had closed 26 of its meat departments.

In addition to 38 A. & P. stores, nine stores of the Kroeger Grocery & Baking Co., were affected by the order given by American Federation of Labor unions.

A union spokesman said 100 men were affected by the A. & P. strike order and 60 by the Kroger order.

JOB THREAT AT OMAHA DENIED

way between Lincoln and Omaha, and that excessive amounts were paid for extra paving there necessitated by a change in the route, seems to imply that these things were done during my administration,' said Bryan. "As a matter of fact, the land was bought and the contracts were made during the closing months of Governor Weaver's term.

Figures Misleading.

"The figures given out by Mr. Griswold are very misleading. I am sure that, with the care the state highway department gave these matters and the fact that all transactions had to be approved by federal engineers, it is not likely that any unjustified expenditure was incurred in building this splendid highway."

Concerning the accusation against Leland, the governor submitted a letter of denial he has received from the inspector, accompanied by affidavits of six persons supporting his statement that he did not threaten republican workers as such with the loss of their jobs or relief payment but merely warned several FERA "social workers" that the regulations forbid them to take part in campaign activities.

"The investigation discloses that there is no more truth in this charge than in other criticisms Mr. Griswold has made," Governor Bryan declared. "I should like to know the names of his informants and see their affidavits."

Haynes Tells Policy.

Rowland Haynes, federal relief administrator for Nebraska, today said no complaints of threats of withdrawing relief to republicans had come to his attention and said no "attempts shall be made" to interfere with such campaigning.

Haynes said he had insisted no members of his administrative staff take any part in any campaign in order to keep the administration of relief entirely free from politics.

He said, however, persons obtaining relief, whether directly or by work relief, are entitled to their own political opinions and whatever they may be, will have no bearing on their obtaining relief.

MILWAUKEE FRUIT AND PRODUCE CARS PICKETED

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 29—(AP)—Fruit and produce yards of the Milwaukee and Northwestern railroads were picketed by striking commission row drivers today as refrigerator and express cars arrived with vegetables and fruits.

Spokesmen for commission row merchants said supplies on hand were small and difficult to get to the retailers.

GUARD OFFICERS WORK OUT ATTACK PROBLEM

Twenty officers of the Nebraska national guard spent the week end in Camp Ashland working out an attack problem under Maj. Ralph Hall, Maj. Jack Meyer, both of Lincoln and Capt. Harold Elarth, Omaha, regular army instructors. The problem consisted of a terrain exercise for the Thirty-fifth division with actions by the 134th infantry brigade and attached artillery, in the hills southeast of the camp.

Adjutant-General H. J. Paul and Col. R. G. Douglas, commander of the brigade, arranged the camp which took up Saturday afternoon and ended Sunday evening.

20,000 Attend Funeral For 'Pretty Boy' Floyd

SALLISAW, Okla., Oct. 29—(AP)—The little country cemetery of Akins today bore the scars of an outlaw's funeral.

Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd was buried there yesterday. The 20,000 persons who came to the funeral of the desperado who was slain by federal agents in Ohio, trampled graves, crushed flowers, overturned footstones and left sagging fences in their wake.

Motor cars in the 10-mile cortege represented 20 states.

In the large crowd there were few tears for the slain outlaw. His mother was dry-eyed as was the rest of the family, including the widow and his 9-year-old son.

SERVICE CHARGE CASE TO JUDGES

legal sparring. Two matters are to be dedicated by the court. (1). A defense motion to dismiss and (2) whether a temporary injunction shall be granted.

The attorneys were given a week to submit briefs on findings of fact and law.

The matter boiled itself down to three fundamentals at the hearing, two of which seemed to be the most vital. They were:

1. The jurisdiction of the railway commission.
2. The loss of revenue by the rate cut.
3. The jurisdiction of the court to entertain the matter.

Jurisdiction Questioned.

"This is the first time," Svoboda declared, "that the physical connections act of 1923 and 1925 has ever been in the courts for construction. We contend that the act gives no jurisdiction to the railway commission in our case."

Vail criticised Svoboda's use of the term "physical connections," and pointed out that the act specifically gives the commission jurisdiction in matters of this sort. "That jurisdiction was given in the 1923 act and it was clinched and nailed down when it was reenacted in 1925."

The state holds that the power company has not made plain its alleged loss of revenue and alleged depreciation of property. "The figures submitted by the plaintiff are inadequate," Vail contended. Svoboda, in rebuttal, said the railway commission had issued its rate order on similar "inadequate" figures.

There was little controversy as to the court's jurisdiction, involving the amount in controversy, upon which the state had filed its dismissal motion.

New Law In Effect.

The three-judge court may be the last ever to sit in Nebraska on a rate matter, as the Southern Nebraska case is the last one to have been filed prior to May 11 when the Johnson act, prohibiting such hearings, went into effect.

The case grew out of a complaint filed by Senator Henry Pederson of Guide Rock and 16 other rural customers with the railway commission. The commission took action under a 1933 law, which prohibited the imposition of a service charge for electrical service. A minimum charge was substituted.

Legal Attack Upon NRA Settled By Agreement

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29—(AP)—What was regarded as one of the most important legal attacks upon the NRA was ended today by dismissal of a suit of L. Greif & Brothers, men's clothing manufacturers, after an agreement between the company and NRA had been reached.

The company said it had not admitted the constitutionality of the NRA or the men's clothing trade, and the NRA and code authorities were said to have accepted a "piece rate" system agreed upon in settlement of the controversy, revolving around wages and back compensation, as in complete compliance with all their requirements.

WITNESS SAYS HE SAW MAHER

Policeman Claims Defendant Was Following Lapidus Car.

OMAHA, Oct. 29—(AP)—The preliminary hearing of William Maher and James Mardi of Omaha on charges of slaying Harry Lapidus, Omaha businessman and reform leader in December, 1931, began in Police court Monday morning with Detective Sergeant Zaloudek on the tand. He testified that on the night Lapidus was shot to death as he drove homeward, he saw Maher in a car following the Lapidus machine. He said he saw the two cars pass an intersection while he, then a cruiser officer was seated in a parked police car.

After hearing the shooting, Zaloudek said he reported his information to headquarters and, after the information was imparted to "the man upstairs," was told to say nothing about it to anyone.

He said he knew Maher from his experience in walking a beat. Zaloudek said he knew Lapidus for many years and when Lapidus drove past, he recognized him at once.

Sixty or seventy feet behind the Lapidus car came another in which, Zaloudek said, he recognized Maher. Another man was driving, the witness testified, adding that he remarked to his partner, Officer Nelson, that it was funny Maher would be riding in his own car with someone else driving.

The police car proceeded on its way, Zaloudek said, later hearing a broadcast to investigate a happening near Hanscom park. It was not until several hours later, when he bought a paper, that he learned of the shooting. An hour later he reported to headquarters, gave his information to Lieut. Joe Janda, who sent it upstairs, and then was told to go home.

Zaloudek testified he did not know who was driving Maher's car. He said he was not acquainted with Mardi.

The defense concentrated on an attempt to learn why the witness had held the information so long. Zaloudek said he told Detective Inspector Andersen through friendship.

Special Zephyr Trips

The Burlington Zephyr will make seven special introductory trips Saturday, officials said Monday. The "silver streak" will run to Ashland and back at regular two-hour intervals, beginning at 8 o'clock in the morning. Special trips from Omaha to Ashland will be made Sunday. No official word has as yet been received as to when the train will go into regular service in the Kansas City, Omaha, Lincoln run.

TWO MEN CHARGED WITH MURDER OF TEXAS GIRL

Marian Gordon

by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Cliff Hondon attempted suicide the day Silver Hondon divorced him, and Marian Gordon, reporter for the Morning Ditpatch, and Bowen, her managing editor, have given Cliff a reason for fighting back to life. They have told him Silver "understands," and is returning to Oakland to see him, because they suspect that something important lies under the surface. Silver is returning, but Marian suspects it is more to take Marian's fiance, Lon Casad, away from her than to see Cliff.

Chapter 18.

THE RETURN.

Marian continued her laughing. "But Silver is so accustomed to having every man who sees her fall in love with her that she thought you were no exception."

"What a kid," Lon murmured.

"How old do you think she is?"

"About your age, I guess; well a little younger, she went to school with you, but if she was married when she was sixteen—"

"She wasn't," Marian reassured him, "and just to relieve your fear of having given a child the wrong impression, she's six years older than I am, which makes her thirty."

"Thirty...listen Ian, do you have to go off on some fool yarn?"

"I do, but she's the 'fool yarn.' I have to meet her and go to the hospital with her and you have to go along with us. No, we can't break the news of our engagement until she's through with her interview with Hondon. Your presence will keep her straight, if nothing else will," she concluded enigmatically. "Come on."

"But wait, Ian, look,"—he drew a small box from his pocket—"that woman has caused me more trouble. I'd planned on waiting for the moon and everything, and ...but here it is. I bought it after we got in and I couldn't sleep for wanting to put it on your finger so the whole world would know you were spoken for."

He slipped a ring with a single blazing stone on her finger, then with Anne merrily singing in the dressing room to prove she wasn't listening, tried to make up for the lack of the moon.

He succeeded so well that Marian didn't think of Silver, nor of the letter she had placed on the dressing table, intending to slip it onto her pocket, until they were near the airport.

They had talked of many things, principally of their honeymoon.

"I hope we'll be able to make that without little Cheerio popping up some place. Honeymoons, you know, are supposed to be spent all alone."

"With Hero."

"You mean you want the pup too?" he asked in delighted surprise.

"I do. You know I saw him before I saw you. He was sitting in your car outside the Emergency Hospital. I had the queerest feeling about him, as if, somehow, he should belong to me."

By the time they reached the air terminal, the ship had landed and Silver was busily engaged in posing for news photographers. Seeing Lon, however, she flew to him, smiled at Marian, then linked her arm in Lon's and said, "can we hurry on now?"

"We can," said Lon, and with Marian on his other arm ushered them to the car.

"But I'm afraid I'll take cold," objected Silver as he helped Marian in first.

"Don't insult my car," countered Lon, adjusting the glass slides so no vagrant wind would blight her delicacy.

As they drove along Silver leaned forward and talked to Lon, ignoring Marian completely. Lon anwered lightly, good naturedly. He said he was sorry he hadn't been able to wait for her in Reno; regretted she hadn't left her address so he might have advised her he was leaving: was sure her nerves were shattered by the air trip. And then they reached the hospital.

Not until they were ascending the steps of the big gray building where a hushed silence hovered like a pall, did Silver's animation leave her.

Marian saw her look down the long, dimly lighted corridors where nurses slipped along on rubber soled shoes like wraiths from another world. She heard her catch her breath in a quick gasp, then saw the narrowing of the dark eyes.

Marian and Silver were left alone together as Lon stopped at the Superintendent's office for the written permission to visit Clifford Hondon.

"Listen Ian," began Silver, "you got me into this, now it's up to you to stand by and see me through."

Marian nodded assent, afraid to speak for fear the relief she felt would tinge her voice. She was not only to accompany Silver to his bedside, but was to be able to prompt Silver.

"And Mr. Casad," Silver again linked her arm in his as he returned, "you will stay with me, won't you? It isn't as if everything were not over between Mr. Hondon and me, but I can't let him know that at a time like this, can I?"

"It wouldn't be sporting," Lon agreed.

"I just wanted to be sure you understood," murmured Silver, then became silent. They had reached the door leading to Hondon's room. They stepped in. The flowers that had smothered the room with perfume which still lingered, had been removed for the night. The room was barren, a gray-green cell with white woodwork, a white clothed nurse, a white bedstead and a white, silent figure on the bed.

Marian looked at him with awe. This was the man whose life had been saved with a lie.

Tip-toeing, as though they would achieve the rubber-soled silence of the nurses, the three moved into the center of the room, then Lon stepped back to let the two girls go alone to the bedside.

Marian had a vision of Cliff Hondon as she had once seen him, tall, bronzed, clad in the brief blue and white of the Varsity crew, flushed with the victory of that crew and with the realization that the lovely girl at his side was his for the asking.

Now he lay, his face the color of the flat pad which served as a pillow for his head, his black hair accentuating the pallor. And watching him stood the girl he had had for the asking, and had given up...for her asking.

"Mr. Hondon," the nurse spoke softly, "you have guests."

The faintest flicker of a smile crossed the blue lips. "Show the boys in," he said.

"It isn't the boys this time," the nurse said lightly, "it's a lady."

"Silver..." he whispered the word in a voice charged more with emotion than life. "Silver," as if the hope it might be she, were more than he could bear to have frustrated.

Marian felt she was treading on sacred ground. This wasn't her place. She had no right to let any man expose the nakedness of his heart before anyone but the girl he loved. She sought to step back, but Silver's hand closed on her arm like a tentacle.

"What will I say?" she questioned with her eyes, and Marian responded in a feather-tipped whisper—"useless sacrifice" . . . "should have explained" . . . "hurry and recover so you can talk things over."

Silver released Marian and knelt at the bedside, looking at Lon rather than at Cliff. "Silly boy," she cooed, "why did you try that useless sacrifice? It was wonderful of you. So generous, but if you'd only explained things to me I'd have seen...everything differently. I didn't understand. You and Dad have always treated me like a child...how could you expect me to know what you knew? But forget that. It's all in the past. You will forget, won't you, dear?"

"You said it," he whispered, and the wan, lifeless face began to glow as though the lamp of hope had been lighted behind it.

"Can't stay but a moment now," Silver continued, "but you must hurry and get well. Do what the doctor tells you, and the nurse. . ." Silver flashed a smile up at the nurse, let the smile die and stared with hostile eyes at the girl.

Marian followed her gaze. This was the Nora Reilly Anne had spoken about. She was lovely, typically Irish with dark hair that curled out from under the stiff white cap, the deep red and clear white complexion, and the black-lashed eyes of clearest blue. She was looking at Silver with contempt, the eyes fairly blazing their knowledge that she knew she was lying to impress the handsome man who stood near the door.

"Oh, Silver," whispered Cliff, eyes closed, cold hand warming itself on her warm, soft one. "Silver, to even guess you cared—"

Silver bent to leave a quick kiss on Hondon's brow and Marian's keen eye detected a grimace of distaste at the necessity. Again her disgust for the girl flamed.

A BIT OF FEMININE CHIC FOR A DAINTY WEE THING
PATTERN 2033

BY ANNE ADAMS

For wee girls who like feminine touches even on their tailored frocks this sweet little dress boasts a cunning scalloped collar and demure scalloped yoke. If even more is required, tiny frills may be added to either side of the buttoned opening. The full sleeves are trimly cuffed and the front panel opens into two smart inverted pleats. The young lady in the picture is probably showing off her pretty new bloomers which match her frock. They come with the pattern. This would be an adorable dress in any pretty cotton or challis, but in a brown wool crepe with a smart white collar it would be about perfec.

Pattern 2033 is available in sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 4 takes 2⅛ yards 36 inch fabric and ¼ yard contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. Be sure to state size.

Order your winter pattern book. Order it now! The new Anne Adams models are stunning, and so easy to make! Design is for all ages and all occasions. Price of book, fifteen cents. Book and Pattern together, twenty-five cents.

Address orders to Lincoln Star Pattern Department, 243 West 17th Street, New York City.

CLAIMS REPEAL TO BE BLOCKED

Head Of Dry Forces Says Laws Will Be Suspended.

A threat that in case of state prohibition repeal, return of hard liquors might be blocked by invoking a referendum against any liquor legalizing measures passed by the next legislature, was voiced Monday by the united temperance campaign committee.

H. F. Martin of Midland college, chairman of th committee, issued a statement that the executive committee of the united dry organization favors initiation of measures for total prohibition should reapeal carry this fall and and said "whatever measures the legislature proposes for handling liquor in case repeal carries would undoubtedly be held up pending a referendum decision by the Nebraska voters in November, 1936."

Under Nebraska laws, if a referendum petition is filed against a legislative act, it suspends operation of the law until after the vote on the measure by the state's electorate the next following general election. Even if prohibition repeal should carry next week, it would remove only the state constitutional ban. Legislative action to remove statutory penalties for possession, sale, manufacture and transportation of liquor still would be necessary before anything stronger than 3.2 per cent alcoholic drinks could be dispensed legally in the state.

Martin also charged that 3.2 beer taverns are being used as campaign centers for repeal and said they apparently wished also to sell whinsky and be "old time saloons."

To Pick Candidates For C. of C. Board

A committee to select candidates for the board of directors of the chamber of commerce, in the election to be held on December 11, was announced Monday by Frank D. Throop, president. The candidates will be selected to represent the manufacturers and jobbers, retail and automotive, finance, insurance and real estate groups and from the chamber at large. Stanley Maly is chairman of the nominating committee. The other members are John H. Agee, A. C. Lau, S. A. Sanderson, and Dr. J. J. Hompes.

Kill that COLD!

Don't Merely Coddle It with Half-Way Measures!

A cold is nothing to trifle with! It may end seriously. A cold, being an internal infection, calls for an internal treatment. It also calls for a COLD remedy and not something good for a number of other things as well.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is direct and internal—and it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is taking chances with a cold. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is sold by all druggists, 30c and 50c. Accept no substitute.—Advertisement.

THE SPIRIT OF THE HOUR.

IN AN address at Norfolk, Dwight Griswold said:

"They say I sought the repeal of the primary law. It is untrue, and if they can prove it, I am willing to withdraw from the republican ticket."

As to whether he shall withdraw from this race at this hour, is a matter for his own decision and his own conscience. What Mr. Griswold could claim with all sincerity and conviction is that S. F. 105, which he introduced as a member of the state senate in 1929, was a measure intended to correct what he conceived to be faults of the primary law, and to strengthen it. He might have been mistaken in his belief. At least, former Governor Arthur J. Weaver, a republican, a progressive republican, thought Mr. Griswold was mistaken.

For when the Griswold bill came to him for signature, Governor Weaver said, in part:

"We now know that S. F. 105 would have destroyed the presidential primary preference in Nebraska, would have provided for the election of delegates to the state and national convention by secret vote, would have taken from the people their right to elect their delegates and national committeemen and later, after all of these were eliminated, would have repealed the provision prohibiting the convention from either endorsing or criticising candidates, which provision is indispensable if we are to maintain a fair and open primary...Even in the old discredited convention days, the delegates openly and courageously recorded their votes on men and measures...Therefore, with ample evidence of real hostility against some of the essential features of the primary law, I deem it unwise to seek any amendments of this law."

The issue was between two members of Mr. Griswold's own party. He was unwilling to accept the judgment of a republican governor. On April 18, Mr. Griswold in the senate made the following motion:

"I move that S. F. 105 be passed, notwithstanding the governor's veto."

The motion prevailed, with Mr. Griswold voting for it, but in the house the following day, Governor Weaver's veto was sustained.

Not only was Governor Weaver of the opinion that S. F. 105 was a vicious attack on the essential spirit of the primary, but that also represented the view of a portion of the republican press of this state. It represented the view of a large number of progressive republicans. Mr. Griswold honestly represented the view of a large number of conservative republicans, of Hamiltonian republicans, of Hoover republicans. He had the right to an honest and courageous defense of his position, but he should not cry out that he is being accused falsely, in the light of the record, it would seem.

Which leads the people of Nebraska to the only real issue between Roy Cochran and Dwight Griswold. One is a Rooseveltian democrat; the other a Hoover republican. One embraces liberalism in the best sense of the word, the other conservatism, as exemplified by the Hoover administration. One looks forward; the other backward. One believes that a new period produces new problems, which must be met in the light of experience as an aid to charting new paths, the other believes that in the past safety may be found.

The question which people must decide is whether we shall go along with the spirit of this hour or whether we shall abandon the program now being carried out to return to the conditions which prevailed under Mr. Hoover. What were those conditions? What was taking place in Nebraska in those months? What has taken place since then? Is there today greater confidence, greater hope, greater calm, greater courage? Is it worth going ahead with? Mr. Griswold very definitely identified his political philosophy in his sponsorship of the primary measure he introduced in the session of 1929. He is not a liberal. He is a conservative. And as a courageous conservative, he should be willing to face the verdict to be given on that issue.

THE PROBLEM OF CROATIA.

JUMPING from the frying pan into the fire has never been looked upon as a satisfactory way to get out of a bad situation. The reported plan by leaders of the Croatian district in western Yugo-Slavia to secede from the latter country and set up a government of their own, under Italian protection, amounts to just about that. It probably will not be tried

What the Croats really want is self-rule. If they could get that as a part of the Yugo-Slavian kingdom they would be satisfied. Formerly they were under the domination of Austro-Hungary, against which they were continually complaining. After the world war they voluntarily joined the newly formed south Slav confederation, thus uniting themselves with other people of their own racial stock. This brought them under the expanded territorial sovereignty of Serbia, but the Croats believed that they could get along much better with their Slav cousins than they did when an alien dynasty had them under its thumb.

Had the late King Alexander been more of a statesman and less of an autocrat, he might easily have won the confidence and co-operation of the Croat population. But he attempted instead to make Serbs of all his subjects. Thus he won the enmity of that important element and generated the spirit of bitterness which resulted in his own assassination. The liberty-loving Croats became rebellious in their attitude toward the crown and the central government at Belgrade, because they were not granted autonomy as they had been led to expect would be done.

However, it is probably not too late yet to repair the damage. Should the new Yugo-Slavian regime hold out an olive branch to Croatia, a friendly settlement of the difficulties may be reached. A policy of repression and reprisal, on the other hand, would only widen the breach.

The Croats may well be distrustful of any overtures coming from Italy to assist them in accomplishing a separation from Yugo-Slavia. Mussolini is interested in just one thing—the extension of Italian power and prestige and the expansion of Italian territory. Any aid given Croatia now would be with a view to taking over the little country at some future time and incorporating it in the new Roman empire that he dreams of.

Such a development, too, would arouse deadly hostility between Italy and Yugo-Slavia, and the dogs of war might again be turned loose in southern Europe. In that event, the opposing armies would undoubtedly move to occupy Croatian territory, thus bringing upon its people all the horrors and devastation that Belgium experienced in the World war by reason of its position as a buffer state between France and Germany.

The Croats will do better by seeking to work out their destiny within their present alignment than to invite new dangers by attempting to force a separation.

MRS. ALICE H. HINMAN.

THE death of Mrs. Alice H. Hinman in Lincoln Sunday evening came as a profound shock to her wide circle of friends within the community and state.

Mrs. Hinman was a woman of exceptional cultural tastes, of exceptional intellectual brilliance, and of vivid interest in public affairs. She was a leader in educational and club activities. As a member of the Lincoln board of education, she performed a magnificent service. As an instructor and lecturer at the University of Nebraska, she was an inspirational teacher. As an author of articles on psychology, she commanded national attention. As a devoted church worker, she gave her support to every movement calculated to advance moral progress.

Her death is a deep sorrow to her friends.

A USELESS ADJUNCT.

ONE thing the coming legislature could do without causing any profound sorrow to the citizenship of Nebraska would be to repeal the state hail insurance law. It has been abundantly proven during the past several years that the farmers of the state are not interested in this law, supposedly passed for their benefit. They do not patronize the state hail fund, in spite of the liberality of its provisions, and it seems foolish to continue operations on the small volume of business handled.

Only 57 farmers in the whole state took out policies with the hail insurance fund this season. In four-fifths of the counties not a single policy was written. The premiums amounted to only $6,464, and total losses allowed were $7,711.

Any private insurance company would starve to death on such a slim diet, particularly when outgo exceeded income. Except for the fact that a good-sized balance was carried over from a year ago, the fund could not have paid this year's losses in full.

However, the main objection to continuing the state hail insurance scheme is not that it did not return a profit in the season just closed. Its great drawback is that the farmers generally do not care for it. They prefer either to carry their own hail risks or to insure their crops with private concerns.

There appears to be no popular demand for the state government engaging in this kind of business. The insurance department should be relieved of the trouble of looking after it and allowed to devote its attention wholly to matters of general supervision and regulation, for which it was created.

LIQUID COAL.

IT MAY not be long before you can call your coal dealer and say: "Send me a hundred gallons of coal."

A percolator that makes liquid coal like a cup of coffee is being operated at the Pennsylvania State college. It is scarcely larger than a household percolator. Black liquid coal is produced.

Ground coal goes into the percolated holder. Instead of water, some tetralin, a liquid, is used. All the air is pumped out and the chamber filled with hydrogen gas. The pressure is run up to 3,200 pounds per square inch. Then the tetralin is boiled until it "percs." The result is a liquid containing 90 per cent of the coal.

The idea of the percolator is to liquefy the greatest possible part of the coal with the least destruction to its chemical makeup. When liquefied the separation of the various substances in coal becomes easier. From the liquid coal the tetralin is boiled off, leaving tar, which still contains 90 per cent of the original substance in the coal. Ordinary tar made by heating coal contains only 5 to 10 per cent of the coal.

The value of this 90 per cent tar is emphasized by the fact that from coal tars already available chemists have produced most of the world's dyes, many of the perfumes and various medicines.

A SENSIBLE DECISION.

THE moving picture producers showed they have enough sense not to kill the goose that laid the golden egg—the golden goose in this instance being the theater-going public—by promising to clean up the films.

Now they have heeded the protests of several Parent-teachers associations over the country against permitting the sensational child star, Shirley Temple, to appear in pictures featuring crooks and racketeers, such as happened in her first films.

There was no widespread objections to the Shirley Temple pictures, but the studio received several letters complaining that the vehicles of the little actress were not ideal to youthful audiences.

So it has been decided to keep closer watch on the type of stories in which she appears.

QUESTIONS.
Glen Falls, N. Y.

I have been married 15 years to a good man, but last week discovered that he had lied to me about a certain matter, and I don't know whether I can trust him again. Do other husbands act like mine, and what ought I to do about it?

ANSWER.

I cannot offer any opinion on a situation so lacking in details. What he lied about you do not say and I have no desire to know.

But what about canceling consistently good conduct for 15 years because of one act of deception? All I can say is that your course is unjustifiable unless the facts which lie behind this situation are of an exceedingly reprehensible character. Are you making a mountain out of a molehill or is your entire domestic security and peace smashed by a single vile misdeed?

I am not trying to act as an apologist for your husband. But suppose the case were reversed and instead of his lieing to you you had lied to him? Ought he to forget your previous fidelity as a wife and perhaps as a mother? I do not think so. Do not forget that to be angry with a loved one works like madness in the brain.

Since you ask for advice, why not overlook this offense, especially since by refusing to do so you may sacrifice personal happiness and disrupt your household? You do not suggest that this otherwise excellent man is indifferent or impenitent. I asume he has expressed his regret. So set out for another 15 years of happy married life with him. Even the patriarch Abraham lied under pressure, and all of us should be judged not only for the wrongs to which we yielded but also in the light of those which by God's help we resisted. So do not be too hard on him.

QUESTION.
Harrisburg, Pa.

In trying to read classical poetry I come across words and expressions which constantly hold me up. Recently I was reading Milton's "L'Allegro" and found it filled with references entirely unknown to me.

"Hard by a cottage chimney smokes
From betwixt two aged oaks," are easy enough; but the next two lines:

"Where Corydon and Thyrsis met
Are at their savory dinner set"—

Who were Corydon and Thyrsis? How can this difficulty be overcome? Isn't Browning hard to read?

ANSWER.

It is little wonder that Milton, the poet who read a book to write a sentence, should puzzle the average reader. The two names you mention represent characters mentioned by the poets Theocritus and Virgil. What you need is an annotated editions of Milton's poems in which the footnotes will give the explanation of the classical references; or else a dictionary of mythological and classical allusions from which you can ascertain their meanings for yourself. Bullfinch's "Age and Fable" was popular in my student days, but I think Mills and Gayley's "Classic Myths" has superseded it. These learned allusions create much of the difficulty in reading great poetry such as Milton wrote. When a Chinese ambassador called on Robert Browning the English poet asked why he was thus honored. On learning that the ambassador wrote verses Browning extended his hand and said with a smile: "I welcome you as a brother. Not even a Chinese poet is more difficult to understand than Browning in some of his obscurest references. Yet those who stay with him are richly rewarded for their efforts. He is emphatically the thinking person's poet.

Once you become familiar with his or any other great poet's methods of approach and points of comprehension their handling of symbols is better understood. Symbolism has a very wide range which includes nearly everything in heaven above and the earth below. Its usage depends on the poet's learning, sympathies, and tendencies and, of course, the simpler his symbols are the more readily he is appreciated.

A new book published by Constable, London, and entitled "Sense and Poetry, or Essays on the Place of Meaning in Modern Poetry," is very helpful in this connection. You should be able to obtain it from any standard book store.

QUESTION.
Raleigh, N. C.

In one of your remarks some time ago you referred to "the evils of mental indigestion." What are the symptoms and what is the cure?

ANSWER.

I have never attempted to frame a list of symptoms of this complaint. But does it suffice to say that the first symptom is that sense of fullness which is felt after a whole week's heavy reading? It is possible to overcharge the brain until it rebels, and this is only its own way of asserting the necessity for a period of reflection. "Understandest thou what thou readest?" comes from within as well as without.

A second symptom is a consciousness of the burdensome contradictions of knowledge. "I really do not know what to think!" exclaims the puzzled student of controversies rife in nearly every intellectual realm. Still another symptom is a bewildered flow of ideas surging to and fro with increasing confusion and unproductive conclusions. Experiences garnered from various sources tax to exhaustion the reader's digestive apparatus. One often notices the frequency of ill-assorted quotations and the infrequency of personal brain work in some so-called "popular orators." They load their minds to the breaking point and then regurgitate what they have swallowed but are unable to absorb.

As for a remedy, read slowly unless you are an expert and always if you are studying important matters. Correlate your knowledge as you read by connecting new facts and ideas with those already known. This is the secret of making a book part of your mental equipment. Pass its contents through the alembic of your own brain and give them them to blend in with your mental back ground. There is a chemistry of the mind as well as of the physical elements. It has its own laws, and obedience to them is requisite if permanent results are to be achieved.

Lichtenberg once said, "If I could only mark out canals in my head so as to accelerate the traffic between my various stocks of thought I should be happy indeed." So would all who crave culture. As it is, too many simply splash around in a waste of printed material. Every person has his or her methods of approach to literature's endless wealth. It is wise not to seize more than you can stamp in your own mint and circulate beneficially in your own mind.

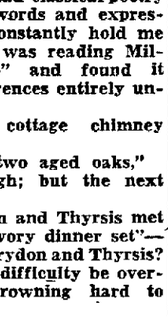
You feel it, and the industrial engineer can record it statistically. I mean that last hour slump in the afternoon work. You may not be conscious of it, but usually you are. You look at the clock a little oftener. You think of a few things that you can do tomorrow morning instead of this afternoon — a perfectly natural and sensible thing, because probably you will be better able to do them in the morning than during the last hour.



Dr Clendening

The industrial engineer has recognized, over and over again, that in the last hour or two of the working day there is a marked falling off of the worker output. It varies a little with the type of work, but is practically a universal occurrence.

Dr. Donald A. Laird, director of the psychological laboratory at Colgate university, who has contributed so many things to our knowledge of ordinary, everyday living, suggests a way to prevent it. He does not believe that of the many explanations which have been advanced to account for the last hour slump any one will explain all cases. But he regards it of significance that the accumulation of sodium lactates in the blood as by-products of the utilization of blood sugar, or glycogen, due to muscular action, might be a cause, as also might be depletion of the available glycogen for use by the muscles. The primary fuel used by the muscles is carbohydrates. These carbohydrates are converted into glycogen.

What more natural, then, that ingestion of something which can be quickly converted into glycogen and will restore the balance, would prevent the last hour slump?

A warm milk drink fulfills all these requirements. Milk sugar is rapidly converted into glycogen, and when the milk drink is reenforced with some maltose, which is one of the quickest sugars to leave the stomach and also quickly becomes glycogen, it is even better.

The value of this was tested out in a group of girls working in the laboratory. One type of work was hand-addressing envelopes with a fountain pen from a printed list, and the other was inserting in these envelopes two standard letter sheets and a return envelope.

In addressing the envelopes there was 2.4 per cent more output the last half of the afternoon, when a 5-minute rest separated the halves, but when a warm milk drink was also taken, the last half output was 5.3 per cent greater. In the work of inserting sheets into the envelopes an even greater gain was obtained by the same means.

As I have intimated before, I believe the rest period is a very important part of the treatment. The use of a warm milk drink with malt in it is somewhat like a treatment used by a prominent California physician for what he calls "shoppers's headache" or "golfer's headache", which he believes to be due to the accumulation of acid in the body, for the prevention of which he recommends the use of a glass of orange juice before going shopping or before playing a round of golf.

Just Folks

UNSOLVED.

We've tunneled mountains, bridged the streams;
We've brought the lightning down.
No longer strange the airplane seems
Which flies above the town.
We've journeyed far from ox and cart
And fires of peat and wood,
But what still tears mankind apart
Not yet is understood.

Where once men walked we swiftly ride.
We've set the nights aglow.
No more we wait for wind and tide
When seaward we would go.
We've learned the weight of moon and star.
Their distances we span,
But still unsolved the problems are
Of man and fellowman.

'Twixt workman and employer lies
A chasm deep and wide.
And no one can a plan devise
To bring them side by side.
Our wisdom in great works we show,
In art we prove our skill;
But why men hate each other so
Remains a mystery still.

Deputy Greer Now On Highway Patrol Duty

Deputy County Sheriff Homer Greer has been placed on highway patrol duty by county authorities as a result of the large number of automobile accidents recently. Starting his new work Saturday evening, Greer has limited his patrol to the West O highway but may patrol other roads later. He reported Monday having stopped a large number of cars over the week-end for traffic violations. "The worst offenders are those who pass other cars on hills, drive with one light, or cut in on traffic at an excessive rate of speed," Greer reported.

Peter Asks Chatterer

Get information at first hand
If facts are what you would command.
—Peter Rabbit.

Mrs. Grouse having gone about her business, Peter Rabbit sat for some time thinking things over and talking to himself as some people have a way of doing when by themselves.

"I don't see how Chatterer the Red Squirrel can know any more than the rest of us what kind of winter we are going to have and whether it will begin early or late," he said. "Still, if he doesn't know why should he have begur his harvest so early? I've never known him to begin as early as this. There must be a reason and I don't see what reason there can be unless it is as nearly every one seems to think, which is that he knows that winter is coming early. Mrs. Grouse doesn't seem to believe it, but others do. I believe I'll look up Chatterer and ask him about it."

So off he started, lipperty, lipperty, lip, through the Green Forest to look for Chatterer. He had no trouble finding him. A pine cone all but hit him on the head. He looked up just in time to dodge another cone that fell from high up in a tree. He got a glimpse of red up there and another one fell on the other side of the tree. All around that tree on the ground were pine-cones. Most of them were single but here and there were two together or a cluster of three or four. All had been cut off by sharp teeth. It was the work of Chatterer, as Peter well knew, and that glimpse of red he had caught was Chatterer himself.

Peter sat down to wait. He couldn't talk with Chatterer in the top of that tree, so there was nothing to do but to wait for Chatterer to come down. Cones continued to fall from time to time, and at last Chatterer appeared coming down the tree.

"Were you trying to hit me with one of those cones?" demanded Peter as soon as Chatterer was near enough.

"Hello, Lazybones!" exclaimed Chatterer. "I didn't even know you were around. If I had I might have made a better shot." He chuckled.

"What are you cutting those cones for anyway?" asked Peter.

"What do you cut clover for?"

"Hello, Lazybones!" exclaimed Chatterer.

asked Chatterer in his turn.

"To eat, of course. What a silly question!" replied Peter.

"No more silly than yours," retorted Chatterer.

"But you don't eat those cones," protested Peter.

"No, but I eat the seeds that are in them," replied Chatterer.

"But they are not ripe yet. Why don't you wait until they are ripe and open so that you can get the seeds without trouble? That is what I would do if I ate seeds that grow in cones," said Peter. He was looking at a cone at his feet. It was tightly closed, locking the seeds inside.

"Of course you would, Lazybones," retorted Chatterer. "Of course you would. Trust you to avoid anything like work. You wouldn't look ahead. It wouldn't occur to you that when those cones opened the seed would fall out and sail away on every Merry Little Breeze that happened along. No, sir, you wouldn't look ahead."

This reminded Peter of what had brought him over there. "By the way," said he, "how do you know we are going to have an early winter?"

"Who says I do?" demanded Chatterer.

"A lot of people. Don't you?" replied Peter.

"I wish people would mind their own business!" snapped Chatterer and, turning, climbed the tree again to cut more cones.

Nebraska Men Lose Lives In Auto Accidents; Sheriff Accidentally Slays Man Near McCook.

FARMER KILLED NEAR FAIRBURY

Car Leaves Highway and Crashes Into Nearby Tree.

FAIRBURY, Neb, Oct. 29—(AP)—Lee Brooks, a farmer near Steele City, was injured fatally Monday when his automobile crashed into a tree south of here. He died two minutes after the arrival of a doctor to attend him.

Brooks told G. E Clarke, a passerby, he felt a dizzy spell coming on and lost control of the car, Clarke said. The automobile left the highway, broke off a mail box post and then crashed into the tree.

Dr. D. O. Hughes said death was caused by hemorrhage of the brain resulting from a skull fracture.

Brooks was en route to Fairbury for treatment of his eyes at the time of the accident. He had been taking eye treatments here.

His widow and a son survive.

Youth Loses Life.

OMAHA, Oct 29—(AP)—Richard Low, jr, 18, of Omaha, was almost instantly killed Sunday night in a three car auto crash north of Blair. Three other persons were injured, none seriously.

Anselmo Man Injured.

GOTHENBURG, Neb., Oct. 29—(AP)—B. J. Atkinson, 60, of Anselmo, suffered severe scalp lacerations when he was thrown through the windshield of his automobile in a collision five miles east of here Sunday. The Rev. and Mrs. F. H Essert of Cozad, who were in the other car, were not injured seriously.

Injuries Fatal.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Oct. 29—(AP)—Injuries which he suffered Friday in an automobile accident near Valentine, Neb., caused the death today of Harry Enright, a salesman for the Ricebos livestock commission firm here. His machine plunged into a deep ditch after failing to negotiate a turn at the end of a bridge.

Women Hear Praise President Roosevelt

OMAHA, Oct. 29— (AP) —More than 1,000 women attending a Roosevelt tea here yesterday were urged by Mrs. Evelyn A. Ryan of Grand Island, democratic national committeewoman, to "send that man in the white house such a vehement message of approval that it will be clearly heard in Washington."

"Tell him in unmistakable language," 'Roosevelt, we trust you, lead us on,'" she said.

Declaring that "in honoring him, we honor ourselves," Mrs. Ryan urged the voters to elect Congressman Edward R. Burke, democrat, as Nebraska's new United States senator, and urged the election of R. L. Cochran, democratic candidate for governor. She termed Cochran "the best fitted man in Nebraska for the job of manager of this state.

Another leading speaker was Sol Rosenblatt, NRA amusement code administrator, who said "Support those men who are supporting the president—who is supporting you."

To Open Transient Camp At Chadron

OMAHA, Oct. 29—(AP)—John McPherson, state transient director, announced the appointment of Wilfred Linsert of Omaha, former chief quartermaster in the navy, as superintendent of the new federal transient camp at Chadron. G. Rainer Dunkel of Fremont was appointed chief clerk.

Linsert and Dunkel will take charge next week when a score of men will be sent by truck from the Omaha center. McPherson expects to have 200 men in the Chadron camp before Christmas.

ROBBERS HOLD UP GARAGE AT OMAHA

OMAHA, Oct. 29—(AP)— Attendants at the Redick Tower garage in downtown Omaha were terrorized Monday morning by two bandits who escaped with $276 taken from the cash register. An attempt to open the safe, containing several hundred dollars, failed. The bandits forced the two attendants to lie on the floor behind a counter and covered their heads with an overcoat after threatening to kill them.

GIRL RESERVES MEET.

(Special to The Star)

BEATRICE, Neb., Oct. 29—The district convention of the Girl Reserves closed here Sunday afternoon with the installation of officers. There were about 100 delegates in attendance. The officers for the coming year are: Ruth Smith, Liberty, president; Ninita Potter, Fairbury, vice president; Ruth Crone, Beatrice, secretary; council members are: Inez Rist, Humboldt; Geraldine Lytle, Wymore; Irene Wandra, Blue Springs; Iva Mae Jarchow, Daykin. The speakers were Miss Jane Robertson, Miss Agnes Fishbach, Miss Kate Webb and Rev. R. B. Fouts, Beatrice, Miss Ruth Easterday, Lincoln.

CONFER WITH DOCTORS.

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb, Oct. 29—(AP)—State Relief Director Harry D Elmore and Dr. K. S J Hoblen of Lincoln, FERA medical officer, conferred here Sunday with medical representatives and county officials regarding alleged difficulties over relief administration in Scotts Bluff county Further conferences were expected.

Falls City Teachers Were Not Polled On Convention Subject

FALLS CITY, Neb., Oct. 27—(AP)—The Parent-Teacher association of North school here has adopted a resolution "resenting" the report that Falls City teachers did not care to attend the district conventions of the Nebraska State Teachers association, held last week.

The group said no poll was taken to determine whether the teachers wished to attend. A member of the Falls City school board announced earlier in the week that the teachers of that city would not attend the conventions because a poll had shown them disinterested. He said most of the teachers thought the conventions a waste of time and money, and were useful only as a brief vacation for movies and shopping in the larger cities.

CRITIC OF LOUP RIVER PROJECT

Hastings Says Was Twice Adversely Reported On By Engineers.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—A g. o. p. accusation of "political panhandling" — an attempt to "bait" voters with promises of public works and power projects—was tossed today at the White house.

Senator Hastings of Delaware, co-chairman of the republican senatorial-congressional campaign committee, was the author of the remark. He said that not only was the "administration engaging in a conspiracy of political panhandling" but that "this plan is being carried out with the knowledge and consent and, in many instances, on the direct orders of the White house."

Hastings enumerated several big power and irrigation projects either approved or favorably considered by the administration, and added:

"Everyone realizes, of course, that some of these things are pure political fakes. Money dangled before the voters prior to election will be swiftly withdrawn after November sixth. In other cases, however, the administration is forced to deliver for various political reasons. Consequently, dams will be built in the desert and engineers will turn in instructed verdicts just as long as the people will stand for it."

Hastings, in his statement, mentioned the Loup river project in Nebraska, the Grand Coulee dam in Washington, the Caspar-Alcova project in Wyoming, the Verde dam in Arizona, and, by inference, the Ft. Peck Dam in Montana. He said:

"If there is nothing rotten in the Loup river project of Nebraska, Mr. Ickes could well afford to give the electorate an explanation of the peculiar machinations which have marked this proposed development since its inception. He could explain, for example, what has happened to the two reports of PWA engineers emphatically condemning the project, and why a third set of engineers was sent out as rubber stamps with advance instructions to approve it."

Blacksmith Shop, And Filling Station At Lushton Destroyed

LUSHTON, Neb., Oct. 29—(AP)—The blacksmith shop of J. J. Esau and the filling station of W. W. Harrington were destroyed by fire early today. Owners of the property believed the blaze started from defective electric wiring. The filling station was not in use. The flames spread from the blacksmith shop to the station, and the Lushton chemical engine could not check them. The amount of the loss was not determined. The blacksmith shop was insured, but not the equipment.

T. J. KNISELY DIES.

OMAHA, Oct. 29 — (AP) — Thomas J. Knisely, for 18 years a member of the advertising staff of the World-Herald, died at a hospital Sunday after an illness of two months. Knisely, prominent in Masonic circles, is survived by his widow, three stepsons, Michael Hagel, Lincoln; Harry Hagel, Omaha, and Chauncey Hagel, Schuyler, a sister and a brother. Funeral services will be held Tuesday.

If you tire easily—

why not reason out the cause of this unnatural condition?

Your first thought may be, "I must eat more." That's not all. You should enjoy what you do eat. Frequently, the blood cells are low... and this, perhaps, is what makes you feel weak. If this is your trouble the stomach may not be calling for sufficient food. Zest to eat may be lacking. But what a difference S.S.S. makes when taken just before meals. BULLET CAUSES DEATH OF JESS Prominent Fremont Service Man Is Victim Of Accident.

FREMONT, Neb., Oct. 29—(AP)—Henry Jess, 56, of Fremont, who fought in the American army against Germany, his native land, by virtue of two special acts of congress, died Sunday night of a gun wound. Jess was struck in the head by a bullet Sunday morning while cleaning his service automatic pistol. He never regained consciousness.

Coming to the Unite States as a young man, Jess enlisted in the national guard and rose to the rank of major. After the declaration of war, while Jess was already in camp as a major in the regular army signal corps, officials discovered he was technically an enemy alien. He had taken out first naturalization papers shortly after arriving in this country, but had never completed the transfer of his citizenship.

Jess appealed to Congressman Dan V. Stephens of Fremont, and Stephens secure the passage of a special act to enable Jess to get his final citizenship papers.

Not long afterward, Jess' horse slipped during a parade in honor of former President Theodore Roosevelt in Lincoln, Jess found himself partially crippled as a result of the accident, but overcame this bar to service by again appealing to congress.

He served in France for seven months as acting division signal officer, a rank usually held by a colonel. After the war, he was internal revenue collector for the Fremont district for 12 years. He also was a former senior vice commander of the Nebraska V. F. W. and a Mason.

Military funeral services are planned Tuesday.

HERMAN HINZ DIES.

(Special to The Star)

BEATRICE, Neb., Oct. 29—Herman Hinz, 56, formerly of Gage county died at his home at Newcastle, Wyo., according to word received here by his sister, Mrs. Fred Albrecht.

Nebraska Flag Is Hung In Cathedral

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—State flags of Kentucky, Illinois, Nebraska, Utah and Oklahoma now hang in the Triforium gallery in the choir of the Washington Episcopal cathedral. They were added to the group Sunday at ceremonies presided over by the Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, bishop of Washington. Thirty-seven state banners now hang in the display. The flag presentation services were participated in by donors and sponsors of the flags and representatives of state societies.

OMAHA YOUTH IS SHOT TO DEATH

Engaged In Holdup In Chicago When Slain By Detective.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 — (AP) — Two youths were shot and killed early Monday by two detectives who said the boys mistook them for customers in a tavern and tried to hold them up. One of the officers was seriously wounded.

Before he died one of the victims gave his name as Maurice Stell, 16, Omaha, Neb., and the other was identified as Joseph Vorachek, 22, Chicago.

Had Run Away.

OMAHA, Oct. 29—(AP)—Lawrence Stell, 16, of Omaha, who was shot and killed in Chicago in what officers said was an attempted holdup, left Omaha on September 27. At the time he was believed to be with Anna Marie Lassiter, 14, of Omaha, who later returned home saying she had been in Chicago. Stell and Anna Marie ran away once before but were picked up at Schuyler, Neb., by the marshal of that town and returned to Omaha. Stell's father left here today for Chicago.

FRAT HOUSE BURNS.

BALDWIN, Kas., Oct. 29—(AP)—Fire that started in the roof destroyed the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity houe at Baker university here yesterday, causing a loss estimated at $10,000.

BYSTANDER IS FATALLY SHOT

Grady Hahn, Oberlin, Kas., Killed By Officer's Bullet.

McCOOK, Neb, Oct 29—(AP)—An inquest was called Monday afternoon into the death of Grady Hahn, 25, of Oberlin, Kas, who was shot and killed accidentally by Sheriff Ed Fiesterman late Sunday night while chasing men alleged to have staged a series of robberies in southwestern Nebraska. With Fiesterman was Sheriff Rush Campbell of Hitchcock county.

A man giving his name as Clifford Price was captured early Monday at Oxford by C. R. Wilson, town marshal, and returned here as one of the members of the gang which County Attorney Ernest Spencer s aidhad stolen five or six automobiles, broken into stores and raided filling stations.

Price denied any connection with the three McCook men, former Nebraska penitentiary or reformatory inmates, who Spencer said were being pursued when Hahn was shot while standing in the shadow of a road house west of here and in the line of fire. He dropped dead as the fugitives escaped. Spencer said Price was a Missouri ex-convict and had been seen with the local men being sought. Price claimed to have been picked up by the driver of the automobile, who escaped at Oxford fro mthe marshal.

A rifle, shotgun and revolver were found in the automobile which authorities said was stolen here and carried license plates stolen from Bridgeport.

FINDS MASTODON TOOTH.

(Special to The Star)

DE WITT, Neb., Oct. 29—While F. P. Baker was digging in the Inderlied sandpit near here, he unearthed a mastodon tooth fifteen feet below the surface. It measures nine by three inches at the base and weighs seven pounds. This is not the first find in this vicinity of the remains of those prehistoric animals. About two years ago the knee bone of a mastodon was found.

Plan Diversion Of Looking Glass Creek Directly Into Loup

COLUMBUS, Neb., Oct. 29—(AP)—Construction of a drainage ditch nearly a mile in length, to carry Looking Glass creek directly into the Loup river west of Monroe is being sought by engineers of the Loup river public power district, who are proposing that the Union Pacific Railroad company and the state highway department co-operate in standing a part of the expense, along with the district.

The ditch would solve a recurring problem in drainage caused by surface waters from the north and west, engineers declare.

The engineers feel that the ditch would be of more service to the Union Pacific, because the railroad has considerable right of way in the affected area, and to the highway department, because of highway No. 22. It would be an advantage, however, to the district to have the ditch provide an outlet south of the canal for surface waters, and the construction would provide considerable hand and team labor at a time when such work is not under way to any great extent on the power canal.

CANAL BID APPROVED.

OMAHA, Oct. 29—(AP)—The lo wbid of $167,840 by the W. S. Hardwich Construction company of Memphis, Tenn., for canal excavation on the Columbus public power and irrigation district PWA project was approved today by John Latenser, jr., state PWA engineer. Bids have now been approved for $326,000 for work on the project, Latenser said.

OMAHA TAVERN KEEPER SLAIN

Shot to Death During Robbery; Watchman Being Held In Case.

OMAHA Oct 29—(AP)—Police officials today continued to question Robert D. Wade of Omaha regarding the fatal shooting Sunday of George Jackson 29 in a 527 robbery, and planned their case against him. Jackson, night operator of a combined beer tavern and cafe, died Sunday night without being able to give a statement to police. From Frank Sabolic, day operator of the cafe and tavern, police heard the story of the shooting

Sabolic named Wade, night watchman at a packing plant, as the man who shot Jackson.

Ak-Sar-Ben Horse Show Holds Spotlight In Week's Doings

A Number of Lincoln People Plan to Attend; Emmett Junes Have Omahans As House Guests; Marie Prouty Weds William H. Cravens.

IT'S almost too, too much to have a week start out as vigorously as this one has—nothing spectacular, to be sure, but more than the usual number of parties, and guests, and activity in general. Of course there will be a great deal of up-ing and down-ing between Omaha and Lincoln this week—the Ak-Sar-Ben horse show will have its quota of Lincoln representatives, and some of the Lincoln social set will be present at the Omaha Junior League ball this evening.

From Omaha, over the past week-end, and during the week, have come and are coming, Omahans to be house guests and party guests here and there. And no doubt there will be a party or so for the two guests from Utica, N. Y. who arrived today.

OFF TO THE BALL this evening in Omaha will be Mr. and Mrs. Wardner Scott, who will attend the affair as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Fuchs, who are entertaining at a supper party preceding the ball as a courtesy to the Lincoln guests—and Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Martin, who will attend the ball as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Campbell.

* * *

AND DOWN FROM Omaha for the game Saturday and to spend the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sadler and Mrs. Sadler's sister, Mrs. John A. MacKinnon of Needham, Mass., who were the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sadler's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Junge.

ARRIVING in Lincoln today from Utica, N. Y., en route to California, were two friends of Mrs. W. A. Woodward's—Mrs. F. E. Howarth and Mrs. Cary. They will be house guests of Mrs. Woodward's for a few days, and will probably be kept very busy during their short visit.

* * *

WEDNESDAY is to be a busy day in social circles—Mrs. R. M. Joyce has chosen that day to be a luncheon hostess in honor of her mother, Mrs. W. J. Turner—and Mrs. Marvin Bridges is also to be a Wednesday hostess, when she entertains twelve guests as a courtesy to her sister-in-law, Mrs. Arthur Crittenden Smith of Pomona, Cal., who is visiting in Omaha. Coming from Omaha for the party will be Mrs. Addison Wilson, Mrs. Guy Gadbois, Miss Eileen Jeffers, Mrs. Russell Bailey and Mrs. Floyd Smith, jr.

* * *

UNDERSTAND THAT the Noisy Eight met today for luncheon and cards at the home of Mrs. George Proudfit, and that the members much prefer the above title to the "Bloody Eight" which we told about a week or so ago. So—"Noisy Eight" it is from now on.

* * *

HOME AGAIN Saturday after a short trip to the Ozarks were Mr. and Mrs. Walter White and Mr. and Mrs. Vance Traphagen.

HORSESHOW-ING in Omaha Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Gardner—and, in another group, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Eiche and their daughter, Miss Frances Eiche.

NEWS ARRIVED this morning of the marriage of Miss Marie Frances Prouty, daughter of Frederick M. Prouty of Alvo—University of Nebraska—Alpha Chi Omega, Simmons college, Boston and so on, to William Howard Cravens, which took place Wednesday October 24, at St. Martin's church in Radnor, Pa. (Radnor being a suburb of Philadelphia). The bride wore a frock of dark red rust shade, with brown accessories, and was given in marriage by Mrs. Bertha Fotterall, an aunt of the bridegroom.

After a honeymoon motor trip to Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Cravens will reside in Livingston Heights, Clarendon, Va.

THE COTILLIONERS will be out Tuesday evening for their usual Hallowe'en eve dinner dance at the Lincoln Country club. Dinner covers will be placed for seventy—and leading the cotillion will be Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Holland and Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell. There are to be four favor dances, so we've been told, and the decorations are really to be unusual and unique to say the least.

AND SO! It's all settled that McClelland Barclay, famed illustrator and artist is to select the "Beauty Queens" on the Nebraska campus this year. Six girls will be selected by Barclay from all the photographs of Nebraska beauties submitted. Bing Crosby selected the queens last year. No announcement of the winners will be made until the Cornhusker appears in the spring.

THINGS look interesting for the University club Tuesday—the ladies' luncheon and bridge day—already a number of reservations have been made, and among them is an eightsome, for which Mrs. I. M. Buckley has reserved a table. Foursome groups have been arranged by Mrs. W. A. Dailey, Mrs. John Sheldahl, Mrs. P. R. Chevalier, Mrs. Fenton B. Fleming, Mrs. B. A. George, and Mrs. Cecil Wadlow.

O'NEIL-KERLIN WEDDING TAKES PLACE IN OMAHA.

The marriage of Miss Ruth Jane O'Neil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jame Knox O'Neil, of Omaha, and Gerald Thomas of St. Paul, Minn., son of Clayton Kerlin of Perry, Ia., was solemnized at Holy Cross church in Omaha Saturday afternoon. Baskets of yellow chrysanthemums and bronze pompoms were placed on either side of the palm-banked altar for the reading of the service by the Rev. John L. Paschang at 4 o'clock.

Mrs. Junius Oldham sang a group of nuptial numbers, accompanied by Mrs. L. E. Bernhardt, who also played the wedding music.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Elizabeth Kerlin of Perry, Ia., sister of the groom. Her tunic frock was of hunter's green crepe, and her accessories were in a harmonizing tone. She carried an arm bouquet of bronze and yellow pom poms.

Floyd Stryker was Mr. Kerlin's best man. The ushers were William O. Johnson and Dr. William Fritz of Schuyler.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore her traveling suit of Oxford gray wool crepe, with the lighter toned dress fashioned with diagonal bands of dove gray satin from the waist to the throat, where they met and were draped into soft loops. Cut steel ornaments marked the waist and neck lines. Her finger length coat was trimmed with a ripple of krimmer, and the same fur was repeated in a small ornament on the turban. Mrs. Kerlin's accessories were in gray and white and she completed her costume with a shoulder spray of gardenias.

A reception for the guests followed at the home of the bride's parents. A wedding breakfast for twenty-two friends and relatives had preceded the service at the Blackstone.

Following a week's motor trip, Mr. and Mrs. Kerlin will reside in St. Paul.

HONOR JOHN C. BOYD ON 86TH BIRTHDAY.

Sixteen relatives and friends honored John C. Boyd Friday evening, in honor of his eighty-sixth birthday. A buffet supper was served, with Mr. Boyd's two daughters and four grandchildren at one large table and the other guests at smaller tables. Garden flowers were used in appointing the tables and the rooms. During the informal evening following, Mr. Boyd sang some of the songs of his boyhood days. Guests from out of town were Mrs. Anna Cronin, a daughter, James Cronin, and Mrs. Cronin, and Harry Cronin, and Mrs. Cronin, his grandsons, Mrs. Dick Kitchen, a granddaughter, and Mr. Kitchen, Mrs. Ralph Kitchen, Mrs. Julia Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cotton, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hendrickson, all of Omaha. Mrs. Dottie Blake, a daughter, and Miss Grace Blake, a granddaughter, reside with Mr. Boyd.

Mr. Boyd was born in Carlinville, Ill., in 1848, and came to Nebraska in a covered wagon in 1878 crossing the Missouri river at Brownville. Since that time, he has resided in Nebraska, and in Lincoln since 1913. Mr. Boyd, who hasc been employed at the state prison for twenty-one years, is in charge of the mail there.

BETA SIGMA PHI'S ENTERTAIN PLEDGES.

Theta and Lambda chapters of Beta Sigma Phi entertained at tea Sunday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A., honoring the pledges. Miss Beulah Peterson greeted guests at door, and Misses Ferne Hedlund and Irene Vavra introduced them to the receiving line. Miss Pauline Brychta invited the group to the tea table, where Miss Zoe Helms and Miss Thelma Sexton poured. The black bowl of yellow chrysanthemums forming the centerpiece had a five-branched gold candelabrum with black tapers on each side. Members of the committee were May Johnson, Irene Hogate, Harriet Price, and Mildred Brown. Theta chapter presented Miss Edith Marik, who is going to Portland, Ore., to reside, with a gift.

MARY ELIZZABETH WHITE HAS HALLOWE'EN PARTY.

MRS. ROSS E. HODGSON ENTERTAINS AT TEA.

Fifty friends called Sunday afternoon between the hours of 3 and 6 o'clock, when Mrs. Rose E. Hodgson entertained at tea at her home, 2710 Ryons street, many of the group including those who had presented plants for the Hodgson rock garden. During the afternoon, her daughters, Misses Madeline and Betty Lou Hodgson, gave a plastique on Joyce Kilmer's "Trees." Mrs. Mary Simon and Mrs. Charles Brown presided at the tea table, which had its appointments in silver and white. Silver sun birds centered the table and on either side were white tapers. A bowl of white cosmos completed the motif.

NEBRASKA CAT CLUB HONORS HUSBANDS.

The members of the Nebraska Cat club entertained their husbands and a few guests, at a covered dish dinner Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hoagland, 5610 Walker avenue. Places were arranged at four tables appointed with chrysanthemums, and Hallowe'en suggestions. Hallowe'en caps and whistles were presented as favors. The after dinner hours were devoted to bridge, pinochle and checkers.

Guests of the club were Mr. and Mrs. Den Hunt, Miss Katherine Hunt and Mrs. S. K. Titterington.

MRS. SENNING'S GROUP POSTPONES MEETING.

Mrs. John Senning's study group on "Efficiency in Government" which was to have met Tuesday at her home, has been postponed for one week, meeting Tuesday, November 6.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Landegren and daughter, Velma, gave a dinner Sunday honoring Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crawford and the Landegren's son, Robert, who plays trumpet in the Crawford orchestra. Other guests were Arch Drake, another member of the Crawford company, and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Landegren and their small daughter, Patty.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Greenslit have returned from the east where they visited their son, Fred Greenslit, who is attending Harvard university.

SEEK SAVING IN COSTS TO BANKS

Removal of Duplication In Examinations Is Luikart Proposal.

To save 324 state banks of Nebraska an estimated $100,000 or more each year in the cost of examinations is the hope of State Bank Supt. E. H. Luikart, which he is trying to accomplish in conjunction with officials of other states and the federal government.

At present, many state banks that are affiliated with the federal reserve system must submit to at least six examinations a year. The state law requires two, and the federal deposit insurance corporation also sends its men around twice a year. In addition, the federal reserve system makes its own examination annually, and where the RFC holds preferred stock in a bank it also insists on a checkup that often.

Not only are the banks inconvenienced by these frequent examinations, virtually duplicating each other, but they are also charged with the examiners' fees and expenses.

While attending the meetings of the American Bankers' association and that association of state supervising officials held simultaneously at Washington last week, Luikart helped to initiate action by the latter organization in favor of adopting a uniform basis of examination and restricting the number to two each year—one by the state department and one for the various federal agencies.

The proposal was supported unanimously by the state officials, with one exception, and federal authorities agreed to give it their consideration. Each of the interested organizations will have a committee to push it along.

Rev. Marsden Is Slated To Be N. N. G. Chaplain

Rev. H. H. Marsden, Lincoln minister, is slated to become the new chaplain of the 110th Medical regiment of the Nebraska National guard. He will appear before an examining board in the near future and his appointment is expected to follow.

The post was left vacant by the death recently of Rev. Harold C. Capsey of Wayne who held a major's brevet in the guards. If confirmed, Rev. Marsden will take the rank of captain, it was announced from Adjutant General Paul's office Monday.

Rev. Marsden came to Lincoln three years ago from St. Louis to be pastor of the Church of the Holy Trinity. He is chaplain of Lincoln Post No. 3 of the American Legion and the Veterans hospital. During the war he served as chaplain in France on General Pershing's staff and saw service in four major engagements: Champagne-Marne, Aisne-Marne, St. Mihiel, Meuse-Argonne.

Alleged Plotter Against King Alexander Arrested

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 29—(AP)—Ivan Mihailoff, leade. of the dreaded Macedonian revolutionaries, sought in connection with the slaying of King Alexander of Yugoslavia, has been arrested in Turkey, said advices reaching diplomatic circles today from Istanbul.

Both Mihailoff and his wife were taken into custody, according to the advices. They recently fled from Bulgaria into Turkey.

It was reported that both Bulgaria and Yugoslavia are demanding Mihailoff's extradition for murder on charges that he prepared Alexander's assassination at Marseille, France.

Corporation To Hold Rehabilitation Lands

Sixteen Families To Be Placed On Tract Just Purchased In Dakota County.

As a result of the visit made to Washington last week by L. A. White, director of rural rehabilitation for the Nebraska FERA, and the conferences he held there with federal officials, all acreage acquired in this state for subsistence farmstead projects will be transferred to a special Delaware corporation formed for that purpose, and held in its name.

The corporation plan of procedure enables the national relief administration and its state branches to carry out plans which otherwise might be difficult, since no individual could buy real estate in his own name on behalf of the federal government.

White has arranged for the purchase of a tract of 114 acres in Dakota county, two miles east of Jackson, where sixteen families will be housed and furnished acreage for raising vegetable crops, pigs, and chickens, and to provide pasturage for a cow or two and horses. A community building will be put up, with a small canning plant and other facilities to serve all the families. Similar projects are already under way in several places, the total area acquired thus far being 411 acres.

Another phase of the state relief program just decided upon is a recreational project in Omaha which will give employment to 203 "white collar" workers, including musicians, actors, handcraft teachers, play directors, and others.

Americans In Line Win In Sweepstakes

DUBLIN, Oct. 29—(INS)—Four Americans were among the 20 holders of tickets in the Irish Hospitals Sweepstake whose counterfoils were drawn today on Mary Tudor II, favorite entry in the Cambridgeshire Handicap, on which the lottery is held. The four who will win $150,000 each if their favored horse wins, were:

Paul Portell, 550 Riverside Drive, New York City.

"Here's Hopin'," 2349 Manor Ave., Swissvale, Pa.

James Di Giovanni, 104 Piaget Ave., Clifton, N. J.

Andrew F. Lilly, 4373 Carpenter Ave., Bronx, N. Y.

Latest odds quoted Mary Tudor II at 9 to 1 to win the race, which will be held at Newmarket, Eng., Oct. 31.

As was the case Saturday, when tickets on the first 40 of the 90 entries were drawn, Americans shared heavily in today's drawing for prizes on the last 50 horses.

National Y.W.C.A. Head Here For Conference

Mrs. Chamberlin Is Honored At Luncheon Monday; Praises Local Organization.

Mrs. Harrie Chamberlin, national Y. W. C. A. president, was honored by present and past board members and the local staff at a luncheon at the Y. W. C. A. Monday. Mrs. Chamberlain, of Detroit and New York, arrived in Lincoln Monday morning and will remain for the "Y. W. Neighborhood Conference" Wednesday.

Miss Belle Ingles, national secretary for this region, was also present at the Monday luncheon. Mrs. F. T. Darrow, president of the local board, presided. About fifty attended.

"What We Ought to Know" was the title of Mrs. Chamberlin's informal luncheon talk. She stressed the relationship of the local association to the national and world organization, and complimented the Lincoln group for its fine home. She also praised the city's appearance and said she was anxious to see "that new capitol I've heard so much about."

Seated at the speaker's table were Mrs. Chamberlin, Mrs. Darrow, Miss Ingles, Mrs. R. A. Bickford, Mrs. Charles Keefer, Miss Fannie Drake, Mrs. M. E. Vance and Mrs. S. A. Sanderson.

At a Monday evening meeting, scheduled for 8 o'clock, Mrs. Chamberlin will speak on "Happenings of the World Today."

DEMOS PREPARE CLOSING TALKS

Noted Speakers To Be In State To Aid In Campaign.

With the political campaign entering its last week, the democratic party of the state was concentrating its big guns for a final drive. Candidates, party workers and outside campaigners were preparing a hectic windup to a hard fought campaign.

With the Burke-Simmons debates still holding a large part of the spotlight, the utterances and trips of other candidates still hold great interest. Big names for the last week include:

Frank W. Murphy, noted farm leader of St. Paul, Minn., who will speak at Beatrice Thursday evening.

Senator Albin W. Barkley of Kentucky, who will speak Wednesday at Kearney.

Harry Flehartz, assistant U. S. attorney general, who will speak at Hastings Monday night and at Hebron Tuesday night.

Paul F. Good, state attorney general, who begins a short campaign tour at Nelson and Superior Thursday.

J. E. Lawrence, editor of the Lincoln Star, who will address a Custer county rally at Broken Bow Saturday night.

SINCLAIR ASKS FEDERAL PROBE

Warning Against G.O.P. Over-Confidence in California Race.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29—(AP)—A demand for a congressional investigation of alleged anti-Sinclair activities of movie interests and a warning against republican over-confidence came today from the rival camps in California's bitter election campaign.

The investigation was demanded by Upton Sinclair, former socialist, making a bid for the governorship as the democratic nominee. He charged the motion picture interests with distributing "false propaganda" against him.

The over-confidence warning was issued by headquarters of Acting Gov. Frank F. Merriam, the republican nominee, while his backers continued to acclaim victory in sight as a result of desertions by many democratic leaders from Sinclair's ranks and apparent repudiation of his "epic" (end poverty in California) plan by the national administration.

As Governor Merriam swung southward in his final drive for votes, Sinclair ressed his campaign in the heavily populated Los Angeles area—admittedly his stronghold.

One slaying was attributed by police to the bitterness of the campaign. Robert Leighton, a Sinclair supporter, was shot at Loyalton. Gilmore Martin, 34, son of the town marshal, was arrested and accused of the killing.

Midwest Banks Making Loans on Stored Corn

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—Signs that bankers are beginning to shoulder some of the government's burden of farm credit were announced today by officials of the Commodity Credit corporation.

They referred to loans on corn stored on farms. Requests for loans received by the corporation are only a fraction of last year's number, though practically the same amount of corn is going under warehouse seal.

Up to Saturday, loans totaling $1,147,000 had been made at 55 cents a bushel. Of this amount the commodity Credit corporation had advanced only $58,000.

Last year the government lent about 60 per cent and private banks about 40 per cent of the $130,000,000 advanced to farmers.

Borah For Simmons

In a communication to republican state headquarters here Monday, Senator William E. Borah, republican, of Idaho made the following endorsement of Robert G. Simmons, candidate for U. S. senator:

"Robert Simmons has ability, integrity and courage. I observed him closely in Washington and learned greatly to admire him for his liberal views upon public questions and his unfailing service to the public."

OFFER TO PROVE GRISWOLD ACTS

Democrats Cite Record Showing Sponsorship Primary Amendment.

The democratic state committee stands ready to supply the proof that Dwight Griswold sought, while a member of the state legislature, to destroy the primary election system, as charged, among other things, in a pamphlet attacking Griswold's legislative record.

In a statement issued by the democratic state committee, signed by Chairman J. C. Quigley and Secretary Robert Flory, attention is called to the senate journal of the 1929 session showing, the statement said, that Griswold introduced, sponsored and voted for senate file No. 105, bill amending the primary law, and later moved to override Governor Weaver's veto.

The statement follows:

On Friday, October 26, 1934, Mr. Griswold republican candidate for governor gave a statement to the Nebraska press complaining of the pamphlet in circulation calling his legislative record to the attention of the voters of the state. In that statement he says: "They say I sought the repeal of the primary law. It is untrue and if they can prove it I am willing to withdraw from the republican ticket." Let his record speak for itself. The voters of the state are entitled to know so that they may have the opportunity on November 6th to take him at his word. We do not want him to withdraw.

Mr. Griswold was a member of the state senate in 1929. On January 24 he introduced Senate file 105 and on that day it was read for the first time. Second reading January 25 when it was referred to the committee on privileges and election. On February 8, it was reported from committee. On February 11 it was considered in committee of whole, read the third time and passed, Griswold voting for it. On March 20 it was passed by the house of representatives. On March 21 the house amendment was concurred in by the senate, Griswold voting for it. On March 29 it was returned to the senate for further consideration and sent to conference. On April 5th the conference committee report was adopted by the senate. On April 9th the conference committee report was adopted by the house. On April 12 senate file 105 as passed by the legislature, was presented to the governor and on that day it was vetoed by the then Governor Weaver. On April 18th Mr. Griswold made the following motion in the state senate (Senate Journal of 1929, page 1371). "I move that senate file 105 be passed notwithstanding the governor's veto." The motion prevailed, Griswold voting for it. On April 19 the house failed to pass the bill over the governor's veto. The above is the true record of senate file 105, taken from the senate journal of the year 1929 and is beyond dispute.

In vetoing this Griswold bill, Governor Weaver said in part: "We now know that senate file 105 would have destroyed the presidential primary preference in Nebraska, would have provided for the election of delegates to the state and national convention by secret vote, would have taken from the people their right to elect their delegates and national committeemen and later after these were all eliminated would have repealed the provision prohibiting the convention from either endorsing or criticising candidates, which provision is indispensable if we are to maintain a fair and open primary . . . Even in the old discredited convention days the delegates openly and courageously recorded their votes on men and measures . . . Therefore, with ample evidence of real hostility against some of the essential features of the primary law, I deem it unwise to seek any amendments of this law." We make no attempt to explain the viciousness of this legislation. We use only the language of Governor Weaver, a republican who had the courage and understanding to veto this act of the legislature sponsored by the present republican candidate for governor.

We quote further from the Griswold statement, first above referred to: "They say I voted for the code law and for the language law, both of which were passed in 1919 when I was not even a member of the legislature." You will observe that the candidate does not deny that he voted for and sponsored an English language law in the legislature session of 1921 when he was a member of the house of representatives. It is true that he did not vote for the code law in 1919 and upon examination of the Griswold record pamphlet no one can find that any such charge was made. He adds that,

The Griswold legislative record in circulation that is sponsored and approved by the democratic state committee does charge him with voting for, and sponsoring the English language bill as a member of the house in 1921. This bill known as Senate file 160, session of 1921, provided in part as follows: "No person, individually or as a teacher shall, in any private, denominational, or parochial, or public school, teach any subject to any person in any language other than the English language." Mr. Griswold voted for this bill. He worked vigorously for its passage.

On page 1411, Nebraska house journal of 1921, there appears the following motion. "During roll call, Mr. Griswold moved a call of the House, which was agreed to." "Call of the house" means that members who may be temporarily absent, can be sent for by the sergeant at arms and forced to vote. There was not enough members in the house to pass the bill so Mr. Griswold took no chances, he forced them to vote. This act of the legislature, known as senate file 160 was approved by the then republican governor, Samuel R. McKelvie. Later the Supreme court of the United States declared this law unconstitutional.

If there be those disposed to question this official statement of the democratic state committee in reply to the public statement of Mr. Griswold, we request them to review the House Journal of 1921 on senate file 160 and the Senate Journal of 1929 and Senate File 105, where the record as herein outlined is complete and is a part of the official and permanent record in the archives of the State of Nebraska.

The democratic state committee has carefully examined the pamphlet and the circular containing Mr. Griswold's legislative record and submits them to the people to guide them in this campaign and does so without malice or misrepresentation.

Respectfully submitted by,
DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE.
JAMES C. QUIGLEY, Chairman.
ROBERT P. FLORY, Secretary.

SAYS SUGAR BEET INDUSTRY IS NOW WELL STABILIZED

(Special to The Star.)

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., Oct. 29—The sugar beet industry is now better stabilized than any other agricultural industry because of the Jones-Costigan bill, Harry Coffee, democratic candidate for congress, said in talks at Bayard, Lyman, Morrill and other North Platte valley towns.

"It has been criticized, but for partisan reasons," he stated. "The whole industry would have been wiped out within a few years had it not been for this legislation, and the administration should be given due credit for it."

Congressman Terry Carpenter also appeared at Lyman and Morrill and spoke in behalf of Coffee. Burke and Cochran.

Carpenter spoke Monday in North Platte. Tuesday he will speak in Clay Center and Columbus, Wednesday in Norfolk and Madison, and Thursday in Omaha.

EUNICE DETWILER WINS W. C. T. U. SOLO CONTEST

Miss Eunice Detwiler was victorious over five contestants in the W. C. T. U. silver solo contest held at First United Presbyterian church Sunday evening. She was awarded a silver lyre, and will be eligible to compete in a gold solo contest as soon as four other silver winners have been declared. Miss Anna Parkins was in charge of the program which cluded readings by Misses Dorothy Diamond and Eileen Craven, gold medal declamatory contest winners, in addtiion to the singing.

Lincoln Ministers Score Repeal, Betting Issues In Sunday Sermons

The moral issues which will face the voters of Nebraska in the election November 6 were stressed by the majority of Lincoln ministers in their Sunday sermons. Unanimous opposition was expressed to the proposed amendments to repeal the state dry laws and to legalize parimutuel race betting.

Rev. Walter Aitken of St. Paul Methodist declared horserace gambling is the best known method of parting the young people from their savings. In pointing out that more than $74,000 a day was spent at the Omaha race track between June 1 and July 5, 1928, he declared that the loss of the money led to suicides, divorce, money crimes, and reformatory sentences.

Heartaches and Poverty.

"A vote for repeal is to bring heartaches and poverty, for the majority of our people cannot afford to spend money for beer or whisky," he said as he blamed "the cream of society, the 400 and smart alecks" for sowing the seeds of discord and discontent that has brought the revolution against the prohibition laws.

"Recovery has been slowed down by the diversion of money from the grocery and drygoods stores to the beer and liquor houses," he said. "The alliance between the saloon and politics has been resumed, and I believe the tide is turning the other way, and that people will soon demand a dryer and tighter prohibition."

Church Holds Balance.

Rev. Clifton H. Walcott told the congregation at First Baptist church that the balance of power in the moral issues is held by the church. "Prohibition has never lost an election when 60 per cent of the electorate voted," he declared.

"Liquor and gambling are the greatest obstacles in the way of cultural, moral and religious progress," he said "and Nebraska should not ape the wet east, which has failed to devise a system of control that will keep society safe."

Rev. Merchant S. Bush, pastor at Second Presbyterian church, told his congregation that "Prohibition is the most effective and satisfactory way to control the liquor weakness of our fellowmen." He attacked the reasons advanced by the repealists, saying that the arguments that rohibition was against personal liberty, also applies to the ten commandments. He cited statistics to the effect that the per capita consumption of milk increased twenty-six gallons under prohibition, while sales of milk and ice cream have dropped off at the rate of $33,000 a month for one company alone, since repeal.

Maintaining Home.

Rev. Harold N. Nye spoke to the congregation at Normal Methodist church on "John Barleycorn's Place," when he said that "Methodism has to fight liquor in order to maintain the home, the center of all teachings of the church." "The wets said before repeal that college people all drank beer, and that they should have legal taverns to drink it in, but now the same crowd defends repeal by saying that less than one-tenth of 1 per cent of the college students know the taste of beer. It will be a sweeping dry victory," he predicted, if all of the church members vote.

Rev. Hugh Lomax of Bethany Christian church pointed out that gambling is nonproducing, for it professes to give something for nothing. "Race track gambling and betting leads to distress, losses, crimes and greater needs for relief," he said.

Speaking on "Wide-Awake Religion," Rev. Paul Calhoun of First Presbyterian church, stressed the need for being awake and voting right. Most of the other ministers of the city used similar subjects for their Sunday sermons.

The climax of the moral issue campaign, from the point of church participation, will be next Sunday evening when a mass meeting will be held at St. Paul Methodist church, with most of the churches of the city participating.

Chancellor E. Guy Cutshall of Nebraska Wesleyan university, former U. S. District Attorney Robert Van Pelt, and Mrs. J. P. Senning will be the mass meeting speakers.

Has been in the drug business over 14 years and has been serving the people of Havelock for 10 years.

Through plague, earthquake and flood, when men, women and children flee for their lives, the druggist stands by, doing his part in aiding the sick, the wounded and the dying—an indispensable ally to the ministering doctors.

Your druggist is far more than a mere store-keeper. He is a member of an old and honored profession. He holds a college degree in his profession of Pharmacy. He must pass rigid examinations to establish his fitness to practice. He is responsible to the law, to the State, to your physician and to you, his customer. His responsibility is the safe guarding of your life and health. He is obliged to know medicines, their uses and their action—to know if your prescription is correctly written—to know that every drug and chemical entering into it is full strength, fresh and pure—to dispense exactly what your doctor orders—to be skilled in compounding the drugs and chemicals in such a manner that your medicine will have the effect your doctor intends it to have.

LABOR LAUNCHES MOVE TO SPEED UP PRODUCTION

Green Claims Unemployment Problem is Growing in Severity.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor pursued new tactics today in its fight on a unemployment problem which it says is growing in severity.

Without mentioning the 30-hour week which the administration frowns on, President William Green issued a statement seeking federal action to have all industry join in a huge and simultaneous effort to increase production by 30 per cent.

Green declared there were 843,000 more jobless last month than in September, 1933.

The "boost production" slogan falls more in line with recent thinking of high officials. There have been signs that NRA may favor scrapping some limitations of production. Also, the AAA is modifying its curb on the output of farm goods.

Small Seasonal Gains.

Though noting that "small" seasonal gains in employment appeared in September and carried into the first part of October, Green said:

"For the first time since the president's re-employment program started in July, 1933, unemployment has exceeded last year's level. The total number at work in the United States was 39,746,000 in September, 1933; by September, 1934, it had declined to 39,367,000.

"During these 12 months the normal increase in population has added close to 450,000 to the army of job seekers for whom industry provides no work. Thus the number without work in industry has risen from 10,108,000 in September, 1933, to 10,951,000 in September, 1934.

Bishop Shayler Is Honored at Dinner

Tells Laymen Knowledge of Church Most Important; Cochran Heads Men's Club.

It is more important that people should know the facts of the church than for them to know anything else, Rt. Rev. E. V. Shayler, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Nebraska told 250 laymen at a dinner given in his honor Sunday evening at the University club. The dinner was given in observance of Bishop Shayler's fifteenth year as bishop in Nebraska.

He paid tribute to the "fine cooperation which the clergy and laity of this diocese have given me" and pleaded for an "awakened responsibility of general church members."

"It is the duty of every church member to lay aside a certain portion of his time to use in the work of the church," Bishop Shayler said. "We've got to carry on a campaign of church information."

Edward Kirk Cochran of Omaha was elected president of the Nebraska Churchman's club, organized at the meeting. Mr. Cochran will name his own executive committee.

Attorney General Paul F. Good, spoke on behalf of Holy Trinity church, and urged the laity to a greater realization of their position as members of a church.

Sterling F. Mutz, representing St. Matthews church, reported on the triennial convention held in Atlantic City.

Dr. Frederick O. Beck of Omaha spoke on "Organization of Laymen" and it was his address that led to the formation of the Nebraska Churchman's club.

William Stiverson of Lincoln sang and Claude S. Wilson was toastmaster. Judge R. R. Reid had charge of arrangements.

Immanuel Lutheran Observes 25th Year

Continued Gospel Service Urged By Four Guest Speakers In Lincoln Church.

Urging continued faithful service to the Gospel, four guest speakers joined with the congregation of Immanuel Lutheran church, Eighth and D streets, in observing the twenty-fifth anniversary of the church's organization Sunday. The four speakers were Rev. C. F. Brommer, Seward, morning service, Rev. H. E. Meyer and Rev. H. G. Hartner, afternoon service, and Rev. William Brommer, Pleasantdale, evening service.

Three choirs furnished music during the day's programs. Immanuel choir sang for the morning service. Trinity choir in the afternoon with O. H. Sunderman directing, and Immanuel children's choir in the evening. Speakers during the day emphasized that in gratitude for the spiritual guidance that had brought their church through a quarter of a century, the congregation owed continued honor, praise, loyalty and faith to their God and to their organization.

Charter Member Attends.

August Bork, charter member of the original group of 15 members and now vice president of the congregation attended the anniversary services. The church was founded Oct. 31, 1909 and until his death September 20 of this year the Rev. F. W. V. Baeder was the church's only pastor. Rev. H Erck is now acting pastor.

During its existence the church has steadily grown until there are now 65 voting members, 292 communicant members, and 460 baptized members. The quarter century of church work has seen 667 baptized, 721 confirmed, 119 marriage ceremonies, and 143 burial services.

The thank offerings collected during the day will be used for synodical purposes, Rev. Erck said.

Most authorities believe that the word "news" is a derivation of the adjective "new." There is, however, another explanation that is often given. This accounts for the word as having been developed after early newspapers carried the points of the compass as a symbol of the fact that news comes from the four quarters of the globe. Eventually, according to this explanation, the initial letters of the compass were joined together to form the word "news."

The first theory, though less fantastic, is strengthened by the fact that "news" was formerly spelled "newes"—the first English newspaper to appear regularly was Nathaniel Butter's "A Currant of Generall Newes," sometimes called "The Weekly Newes," which was started in 1622.

Various other early usages of the term also indicate that it was spelled "newes"—all of which somewhat disprove the theory that the word "news" is derived from the compass points.

Strange as it seems, the first daily newspaper in English was published by a woman, Elizabeth Mallet. Her paper was called The Daily Courant, published in London beginning March 11, 1702. It was a single page paper printed on one side and containing only two columns of type devoted mostly to foreign news. Miss Mallet had no editorial department in her organization, holding to the theory that readers could better interpret their own news.

America's first daily was The American Daily Advertiser which appeared in Philadelphia in 1784.

SIAM'S MONARCH OFFERS TO QUIT

King Prajadhipok Miffed At Loss of Some of His Powers.

LONDON, Oct. 29—(AP)—The 10,000,000 subjects of the king of Siam did not know today their ruler had threatened to quit, but his representatives here said the government had asked his majesty to reconsider.

While King Prajadhipok was on the continent, it was revealed, the government at home amended some of his prerogatives, principally that of life and death over his subjects. Prajadhipok threatened to resign.

Prajadhipok's private secretary said the government had asked the king to reconsider, but would drop his long list of oriental titles, which include the supreme arbiter of the ebb and flow of the tides" and "the possessor of the 24 umbrellas."

The king and queen Rambai Barni left home several months ago and visited several capitals in Europe and in England. Recently he underwent an operation for the eye cataract (similar to the one he underwent in the U. S. in 1931.)

Services Tuesday For Mrs. Koch at Hickman

Funeral services for Mrs. Adeline Koch, 76, longtime resident of Lancaster county who died at a local hospital Sunday afternoon, will be held at the home at Hickman at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with further services at the Hickman Presbyterian church at 2 o'clock. Rev. H. G. Blaschke will officiate and interment will be in Stockfelt cemetery, Hickman.

Mrs. Koch, the widow of William Koch, farmer, is survived by three sons, Fred, Emil and Louis all of Haxtun, Col.; five daughters, Mrs. Charles Schramm of Lincoln, Mrs. John Etmund, Mrs. Harry Hoppe and Mrs. Abe Walvoord, all of Princeton and Mrs. Garrie Etmund of Roca; four brothers and a sister.

The body is at Broekema's at Hickman.

N.Y. Stock Market Lost $287,000 in 1933 Operations

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—The New York stock exchange where millions are made and lost, operated " in the red" last year.

The biggest securities mart, in an unprecedented and voluntary publication of its year-end balance sheet, disclosed last night it lost $287,986.74 in 1933. The exchange's figures showed it spent $4,242,574 31 last year and took in only $3,954,587.57.

Items contributing to their expenses included $4,336,103 in salaries and wages, $536,943 for employe benefits, $645,217 for taxes and $669,441 for depreciation. Income included $1,375,000 in membership dues, $4,140,444 for ticker and similar services to members and $1,969,350 in miscellaneous receipts.

Compton Puts Hope In Younger Generation

American Library President Says Its Members Are Less Likely To Fool Themselves.

Expressing hope and confidence in the younger generation, Charles H. Compton of St. Louis, national president of the American Library association, spoke to nearly 80 members of the Lincoln chapter at the parlors of the city library Sunday afternoon.

"When I realize what a mess of things the older generation has made, I feel sorry for the younger generation," he said, "But in spite of the fact, I envy them because of the opportunities which confront them. I believe they look at things a little more squarely and are not so likely to fool themselves."

Leaders In Profession.

He told of the three most promminent persons in the profession, listing their characteristics and contributions to the field. "Every young librarian should have the unbounded enthusiasm of Melville Dewey, the founder of the decimal system of classification; the critical attitude of John Cotton Dana; and the far sightedness of William Howard Brett. Dana was the profound critic of the profession, and Brett was the one who originated the system of open shelves," he said.

He spoke of the recent development of the library system in the southern states, especially in Louisiana.

Mrs. Ethol Langdon Bishop, president of the Lincoln chapter, was chairman of the committee in charge of the Sunday tea. Other officers assisting her were Miss Lillian Griffith, Miss Maud Wisherd and Mrs. Helen Meisinger.

Frisco's $100,000,000 Water Project Finished

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29—(AP)—San Francisco drank water from the high Sierras today—a $100,000,000 drink for which the city had waited more than 20 years.

The surge of water into the immediate reservoir at Crystal Springs yesterday marked completion of the great Hetch Hetchy project which tapped the mountain supply in Yosemite national park through a 150-mile aqueduct.

Fitzmaurice Balked In Try for New Air Record

LYMPNE AIRDROME, England, Oct. 29—(AP)—Col. James C. Fitzmaurice returned to Lympne today three hours after he had taken off in an attempt to establish a new speed record to Australia. A piece of the shield on the under-carriage of his plane had fallen off.

The Irishman and his co-pilot, Eric W. Bonar, said they were well beyond Brussels when the mishap occurred.

Shortly after 11 a. m., the plane "The Irish Swoop," was flown to Croydon airport, near London, where it will be overhauled.

Fitzbaurice withdrew from the Melbourne derby, on which C. W. A. Scott and T. C. Black set a record of 71 hours, after a dispute with officials over the amount of gasoline his plane could carry.

First Killing Frosts Occur; Late In Season

Coming two weeks later than normal, a killing frost, the first of the season, hit Lincoln Sunday morning when the mercury fell to 29 degrees. The same temperature was reported at 8 o'clock Monday morning. The record for a late first frost of the season was set November 7, 1921.

The frost killed many garden plants and flowers in the city. It was general over the eastern section of the state, according to reports, and will put the state's little corn in good shape for husking. Skies were clear over the state and temperatures ranged for the most part in the low 30s and high 20s.

LEGAL NOTICE AS TO MEASURE TO BE VOTED UPON NOVEMBER 6, 1934

The following amendment to the Constitution proposed by initiative petition will be submitted to the electors of this State for approval or rejection at the general election to be held November 6, 1934:

BALLOT TITLE

"Proposed by Initiative Petition

330 ☐ YES
381 ☐ NO

An amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska providing that beginning with the regular session of the legislature in 1937 the legislative authority of the state shall be vested in a legislature consisting of one house of not less than thirty nor more than fifty members, the members to be nominated and elected in a non-partisan manner; to provide for the compensation and terms of office of said legislative members; to provide for sessions of said legislature and to provide the procedure of and in said legislative body necessary for the enactment of laws."

TEXT OF THE AMENDMENT

"BE IT ENACTED BY THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEBRASKA:

That Section 1 of Article III of the Constitution of Nebraska be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 1. Commencing with the regular session of the Legislature to be held in January, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven, the legislative authority of the state shall be vested in a Legislature consisting of one chamber. The people reserve for themselves, however, the power to propose laws, and amendments to the constitution, and to enact or reject the same at the polls, independent of the Legislature, and also reserve power at their own option to approve or reject at the polls any act, item, section, or part of any act passed by the Legislature. All authority vested by the constitution or laws of the state in the Senate, House of Representatives, or joint session thereof, in so far as applicable, shall be and hereby is vested in said Legislature of one chamber. All provisions in the constitution and laws of the state relating to the Legislature, the Senate, the House of Representatives, joint sessions of the Senate and House of Representatives, Senator, or member of the House of Representatives, shall, in so far as said provisions are applicable, apply to and mean said Legislature of one chamber hereby created and the members thereof. All references to Clerk of House of Representatives or Secretary of Senate shall mean, when applicable, the Clerk of the Legislature of one chamber. All references to Speaker of the House of Representatives or temporary president of the Senate shall mean Speaker of the Legislature. Wherever any provision of the constitution requires submission of any matter to, or action by, the House of Representatives, the Senate, or joint session thereof, or the members of either body or both bodies, it shall after January first, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven, be construed to mean the Legislature herein provided for.

That Section 5 of Article III of the Constitution of Nebraska be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 5. At the regular session of the Legislature held in the year nineteen hundred and thirty-five the Legislature shall by law determine the number of members to be elected and divide the state in Legislative Districts. In the creation of such Districts, any county that contains population sufficient to entitle it to two or more members of the Legislature shall be divided into separate and distinct Legislative Districts, as nearly equal in population as may be composed of contiguous and compact territory. After the creation of such districts, beginning in nineteen hundred and thirty-six and every two years thereafter, one member of the Legislature shall be elected from each such District. The basis of apportionment shall be the population excluding aliens, as shown by next preceding federal census. In like manner, when necessary to a correction of inequalities in the population of such districts, the state may be redistricted from time to time, but no oftener than once in ten years.

That Section 6 of Article III of the Constitution of Nebraska be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 6. The Legislature shall consist of not more than fifty members and not less than thirty members. The sessions of the Legislature shall be biennial except as otherwise provided by this constitution or as may be otherwise provided by law.

That Section 7 of Article III of the Constitution of Nebraska be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 7. Members of the Legislature shall be elected for a term of two years beginning at noon on the first Tuesday in January at the year next ensuing the general election at which they were elected. Each member shall be nominated and elected in a non-partisan manner and without any indication on the ballot that he is affiliated with or endorsed by any political party or organization. The aggregate salaries of all the members shall be $37,500 per annum, divided equally among the members and payable in such manner and at such times as shall be provided by law. In addition to his salary, each member shall receive an amount equal to his actual expenses in traveling by the most usual route once to and returning from each regular or special session of the Legislature. Members of the Legislature shall receive no pay nor perquisites other than said salary and expenses, and employees of the Legislature shall receive no compensation other than their salary or per diem.

That Section 10 of Article III of the Constitution of Nebraska be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 10. The Legislature shall meet in regular session at 12:00 o'clock (noon) on the first Tuesday in January in the year next ensuing the election of the members thereof. The Lieutenant Governor shall preside, but shall vote only when the Legislature is equally divided. A majority of the members elected to the Legislature shall constitute a quorum; the Legislature shall determine the rules of its proceedings and be the judge of the election, returns, and qualifications of its members, shall choose its own officers, including a Speaker to preside when the Lieutenant Governor shall be absent, incapacitated, or shall act as Governor. No member shall be expelled except by a vote of two-thirds of all members elected to the Legislature, and no member shall be twice expelled for the same offense. The Legislature may punish by imprisonment any person not a member thereof who shall be guilty of disrespect to the Legislature by disorderly or contemptuous behavior in its presence, but no such imprisonment shall extend beyond twenty-four hours at one time, unless the person shall persist in such disorderly or contemptuous behavior.

That Section 11 of Article III of the Constitution of Nebraska be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 11. The Legislature shall keep a journal of its proceedings and publish them (except such parts as may require secrecy) and the yeas and nays of the members on any question, shall at the desire of any one of them be entered on the journal. All votes shall be viva voce. The doors of the Legislature and of the Committees of the Whole, shall be open, unless when the business shall be such as ought to be kept secret.

That Section 14 of Article III of the Constitution of Nebraska be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 14. Every bill and resolution shall be read by title when introduced, and a printed copy thereof provided for the use of each member, and the bill and all amendments thereto shall be printed and read at large before the vote is taken upon its final passage. No such vote upon the final passage of any bill shall be taken, however, until five legislative days after its introduction nor until it has been on file for final reading and passage for at least one legislative day. No bill shall contain more than one subject, and the same shall be clearly expressed in the title. And no law shall be amended unless the new act contain the section or sections as amended and the section or sections so amended shall be repealed. The Lieutenant Governor, or the Speaker if acting as presiding officer, shall sign, in the presence of the Legislature while the same is in session and capable of transacting business, all bills and resolutions passed by the legislature.

That Sections 12 and 28, of Article III, and Sections 9 and 17, of Article IV, be and the same hereby are repealed, effective as of January 1, 1937."

HARRY R. SWANSON, Secretary of State.

Huskers Take Two Weeks to Prepare for Pitt

Biblemen Have Open Date Before Taking On Sutherland Team

BY "CY" SHERMAN.

Football of the Cornhusker brand will indulge this week in a breathing spell, taking out time during an open Saturday so that the Scarlet may tune up for one of Nebraska's most important commitments of the campaign—the conflict with the redoubtable Pitt U. Panthers, Nov. 10, on the Lincoln sward.

Panthers Plenty Potent.

The one smear of defeat on Pitt's otherwise glamorous record—a reverse sustained at the hands of a powerful band of Minnesota Gophers—has inspired no delusions in the Nebraska camp, as the evidence is conclusive that Coach Jock Sutherland has assembled another potent Panther team, one that is well worthy of ranking with the nation's leaders in the gridiron sport.

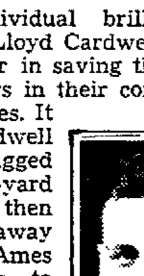
LLOYD CARDWELL

Although the Huskers pulled through with a 7-6 victory over the most efficient Iowa State team that Nebraska followers ever had seen in action, Head Coach Bible and his aides were by no means pleased with the Scarlet squad's performance. While the Nebraska backs performed satisfactorily, the forward wall gave the ball-carriers ragged support in the important department of blocking, in addition to which the right side of the Husker line, chiefly at the tackle position, gave ground persistently while the Ames Cyclones were sweeping to their touchdown during a spirited fourth period spurt. This weakness, so apparent during the fray with Iowa State, must be overcome if the Cornhuskers are to make a representative showing against a foe as formidable as Pitt.

Cyclones Real Goods.

Iowa State's virile display against Nebraska provided a complete vindication of the warning handed out last week by Ed Weir, who scouted the Cyclones during their decisive thrashing of the Iowa U. Hawkeyes. Weir gave notice that Iowa State was a genuine threat to Nebraska's domination of the Big Six conference and the Veenker team from Ames made Weir's prophecy good by outdowning the Huskers, although the Biblemen had a margin in total yards gained from scrimmage and in points for the final reckoning.

The individual brilliance of Halfback Lloyd Cardwell was the main factor in saving the day for the Huskers in their combat with the Cyclones. It was Cardwell who snagged Bauer's 20-yard pass and then broke away from two Ames tacklers to sprint the remaining 25 yards to Nebraska's first period touchdown, after which Sam Francis, another sophomore, booted the extra point which produced the Scarlet's victory margin.



SAM FRANCIS

On the subsequent kickoff by Iowa State, Cardwell took a crisscross pass, again from Bauer, and paraded more than 60 yards on a jaunt that was only balked of a second touchdown when he stepped out of bounds. Without these two sophomores, Cardwell and Francis, Nebraska's leadership in the Big Six championship race might have passed over to Iowa State.

Bible Plans Easy Drills.

The present week of preparation at Nebraska, as mapped out by Head Coach Bible, calls for a few days of easy drills, followed by two days of strenuous scrimmaging, after which the Scarlet will clamp the brakes on the stiff workouts during a subsequent week devoted in the main to drilling new formations, designed for use against the Panthers, with special attention devoted to improving the blocking and to strengthening the right side of the Husker line.

With the Pitt game out of the way Nov. 10, the Huskers will return to conference competition, rounding out the campaign by meeting Kansas U. at Lawrence and taking on Missouri and Kansas Aggies in Lincoln.

Oklahoma and Iowa State had been rated as the two highest hurdles in Nebraska's sweep to another Bix Six title, but with Kansas holding Oklahoma to a 7-7 tie last week, the conflict with the Jayhawkers Nov. 17 at Lawrence evidently is well worthy of the Huskers' serious consideration.

Tigers Not So Soft.

While Nebraska was having its hands full in repulsing the Cyclones and the Kansas-Oklahoma affair was producing that 7-7 deadlock, the sickly Missouri Tiger was showing signs of a revival by giving the undefeated Chicago Maroons a spirited argument.

Going into the fourth period, the Bengals were on even terms with their Big Ten opponents, the score standing 6-6, but the Shaughnessy team finally began to hit on all cylinders and the Maroons rolled up two touchdowns and bagged the winning end of a 19-6 score.

The result of the Tulsa-Kansas State fray at Tulsa was a sock on the nose to Big Six prestige, as the Henderson-coached crew smacked the Aggies down and then buried them under a score of 21-0. The Manhattan management undoubtedly scheduled the game on account of its gate receipts possibilities, but in the end it probably will prove to have been a bad bargain, as the Aggies can't gulp many defeats and continue to be a prime attraction, even on their home field.

Gophers Pulverize Hawks.

The handwriting was on the wall over at Iowa City and, quite as had been anticipated, the Hawkes were mercilessly mangled by the Minnesota juggernaut, 48-12. The beefy, aggressive Gopher line and a hard-hitting set of brawny backs rolled up seven touchdowns and might have counted more had not Coach Bernie Bierman charitably turned off some of the heat. The Hawkeyes, unable to even dent the Minnesota line, took to the air in scoring two touchdowns against Gopher replacements.

Meantime, Oze Simmons, Dick Hanley's "greatest halfback on earth," floundered again, making a sorrier showing than he did against Nebraska or Iowa State. After a few smack-'em-down tackles by the burly Gophers, Oze was in that state of physical disorder which calls for a permanent seat on a sideline bench.

The Cornhuskers will stage their drills this week behind closed gates. Head Coach Dana X. Bible announced there will be no public workout Wednesday, as there is no scrimmage dated for mid-week.

Two Six-Man Games On Hebron Gridiron

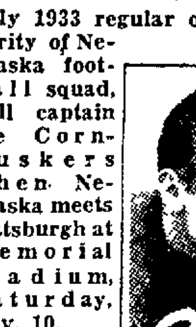
HEBRON, Neb., Oct. 29—A doubleheader program of six-man football will be staged here the evening of Wednesday, Oct. 31. Hardy plays Belvidere and Alexandria meets Chester.

Crowd Breaks Record For Huskers, Cyclones

The largest throng ever present in history at a Nebraska-Iowa State football game was at Memorial stadium last Saturday. Business Manager of Athletics John K. Selleck announced Monday that the official count showed 24,277.

Meier Team Captain In Clash With Pitt

Franklin Meier, center and only 1933 regular on the Univerity of Nebraska football squad, will captain the Cornhuskers when Nebraska meets Pittsburgh at Memorial stadium, Saturday, Nov. 10.



FRANKLIN MEIER

Meier, who has been a standout in the Husker line play this fall, is a former Lincoln high athlete. He captained the Biblemen in the Minnesota game early in the season.

TECH LOSS BLOW AT LINCOLN HIGH

Defeat of Maroon Dulls the Interest In Next Friday's Game.

Lincoln high's Friday afternoon grid clash with Omaha Tech was robbed of some of its titular importance Saturday when Omaha Central unceremoniously took a 12 to 0 verdict from the Tech club. Previously Central had defeated Abraham Lincoln and bowed, 18 to 0, to the Red and Black.

Some discussion over conference standings has occupied loop officials for the past week. Coach Baller explains he had been told that Lincoln's 26 to 14 defeat at the hands of Sioux City Central would not injure its conference standings for this fall, inasmuch as the Sioux City school had not been able to schedule enough conference schools to be eligible for the championship.

Martin Tells Different Story.

Coach Lloyd B. Martin, Sioux City Central grid mentor, on hearing of Baller's statement, said he had deliberately rearranged his schedule to include Omaha Tech and South, East high of Sioux City and Lincoln high, with the understanding that this would make him eligible for the title. If any ruling on this controversy has been made by C. G. Linn, principal of Omaha Tech, who is president of the conference, it has not been made public.

Figuring Sioux City Central into the team standings, as Coach Martin insists it should be, Lincoln and Omaha Central would be tied for second place behind Sioux City, and Omaha Tech would be in fourth place. Both Lincoln and Omaha Central have won twice and lost once in the conference, while Sioux City has won one and lost none and Omaha Tech has won one and lost one. Abraham Lincoln has taken three drubbings in as many loop starts.

The Ballermen were called to the practice field Monday for a heavy drill session as they started loading for the Tech game. An open date last week left them with three days of complete rest and only a little work the rest of the time.

Word that Herm Rohrig, regular halfback, will be in shape to take his place against Tech considerably brightened the Red and Black grid horizon. Rohrig was out of the lineup for the Abraham Lincoln tilt two weeks ago with a seriously bruised leg and spent last week on crutches.

D. X. and Bill Day To Scout Panthers

Dana X. Bible, head coach of the Nebraska Cornhuskers, will travel to Pittsburgh this weekend to personally inspect the Panthers in their Saturday game with Notre Dame. Bill Day, who charted Pitt against Minnesota, will accompany Bible.

DOANE, CHADRON SET SWIFT PACE

Bronchos and Eagles Top Teams In Two State Conferences.

Hastings college and Chadron Teachers, defending champions in the two Nebraska college conferences, cleared second hurdles last week in the race for 1934 titles Coach Thurlo McCrady's Hastings Bronchos slapped a 26-0 defeat on Doane at Crete and Coach Rufus Trapp's Chadron Eagles spilled Wayne Teachers, 20-0, on the Wayne field.

The victories left the two teams with only a pair of conference games remaining on the '34 slate. Hastings is in the comfortable position of meeting Midland and Wesleyan at home, while the Eagles have the more difficult assignment of facing Omaha university and Kearney Teachers.

Doane Has Strong Club.

The Hastings victory, achieved in the presence of large homecoming day crowd at Doane, provided additional evidence that McCrady has a well-groomed club. The Broncs were scoreless the first half but after the intermission broke out with a brace of touchdowns in each of the ast two periods.

Nebraska Wesleyan, meantime, was opening its conference drive with a 3-0 victory at Midland. The Lutherans outdowned and outyarded the Methodists, but failed to pierce the Wesleyan goal line. Weseyan forwards held tight while Cliff Bosley kicked a 20-yard placement to decide the issue.

Montague, Worthington and Christensen were the sparkplugs of a Chadron attack which swept over the Wayne Teachers, 20-0. Montague plunged to the first touchdown and the other ball-carries hiked across on sprints of 30 yards.

Peru Teachers moved into third position in the N. I. A. A. with a 7-0 victory over Kearney Teachers. The ability of the Antelopes to hold the Bobcats to a close score was a surprise.

Bish's placekick for the extra point hit the cross bar and bounced over to give York college a 7-6 victory over Dana college at Blair.

Hastings college will have an opportunity to make it three straight in N. C. A. C. competition this week when the Bronchos entertain Midland college. The Lutherans may bother the Broncs but have hardly the reserve strength to win. Wesleyan carries its title hopes to York.

The only N. I. A. A. game of the week carries Peru to Omaha. Sed Hartman's Cardinals need the victory to stay in the championship picture.

DISASTER HITS NEBRASKA HIGHS

Five Undefeated Teams Had Colors Lowered During Past Week.

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

Five Nebraska high school teams lowered their colors last week for the first time this season during an abbreviated program pared down by the absence of many coaches who took half a week off to attend the various district teachers' meetings.

The quintet to meet first defeat included Albion, always a leader in the northeast region; Havelock, defending champion in the Greater Lincoln league; Tecumseh, a king-pin in southeast circles; Shubert, previously undefeated since 1932, and Benson, one of the best Omaha prep aggregations.

Meantime a number of teams were chalking up impressive performances, particularly Crete, Falls City, Creighton Prep, Omaha Central, Kearney, Superior, Sutton, Nelson, College View, Arapahoe, Edgar.

Kleinmen Still Showing Class.

One of the finest bit of ground-gaining machinery seen in action on the Nebraska prep gridirons this fall was flashed by Coach L. F. "Pop" Klein's Crete Cardinals in rolling over Fairbury, 20-0, in a mid-week game on the Jefferson county rectangle.

Fairbury, a rugged team deserving of a place among the front ranks this season, was no match for the powerful and hard-running Crete offense which featured the 190-pound Louie DePoyster and the fleet Don Menne. In addition to its running plays, the Saline county eleven has a good assortment of aerial tricks which promise to make trouble for the four remaining teams on the Crete schedule—Jackson, Lincoln, Seward and North Platte.

Defensively, Crete has everything that could be desired, with a stalwart line and a husky, alert secondary giving valuable assistance to the forwards.

Crete's dominating position in the Mid-State league is matched by the supremacy in the southeast of Coach "Jug" Brown's Falls City Tigers. The Richardson county teams have been compiling fancy records since Brown took over the coaching reins and this year's edition rates well with past Falls City aggregations.

Falls City Marches On.

The Brownmen practically assured themselves of another Southeast Nebraska title last week by winning, 6-0, at Tecumseh Monday afternoon and romping over Nebraska City, 26-0, Friday. At Tecumseh, the Falls City eleven made the most of one scoring opportunity, while against Nebraska City, the Tigers scored four times in the opening half and then called it an afternoon.

There are few standouts in the Falls City team, the outfit impressing rather as a well-drilled machine. Tommy Gist, a sophomore, counted three of the touchdowns against Nebraska City and Bill Schock contributed some nice returns of punts. The Richardson county eleven is well saturated with underclassmen, which forecasts more good seasons for the Tigermen.

Although the result had no bearing on the Nebraska state title race, a game of unusual interest was the 12-0 victory scored by Omaha Central at the expense of Omaha Tech. The victory was the first time the Purple has triumphed over the Techsters since 1917 and Central rooters celebrated accordingly. The win touched off a football revival at Central.

Prepsters Stop Benson.

Creighton Prep spiked the Benson guns for the first time this season and the result had the dopesters groggy. Benson had run rough shod over Fremont and the latter team a week later humbled Creighton Prep. Then along comes the young Bluejay to beat the Bunnies, 14-0. To further complicate matters, Omaha North edged out Fremont, 12-6, Sullivan intercepting a pass and running 92 yards for what proved to be the winning touchdown.

Greater Lincoln fans got a pair of surprises when College View upset Havelock, defending champion, 7-0, and Jackson had all sorts of trouble beating Bethany by the same score. Marrow intercepted a flat pass and ran 45 yards for the score that beat the Engineers. Cathedral stepped outside the conference to hang a 12-0 defeat on Friend and Bethany rolled back Sterling 25-6.

North Platte cleared another hurdle in the Southwest conference by beating Cozad 19-0. The game was even until Floyd Newton, North Platte's great back, returned to action in the third quarter and scored two touchdowns in short order. Newton plunged to one tally and ran the next kickoff back 80 yards to another touchdown. Gothenburg had more trouble than anticipated in beating Curtis, 13-0 "Red" McClellan returned a punt 85 yards to give Holdrege a 7-0 victory over McCook. Max Deusenburg returned a kickoff 90 yards to a Beaver City score, but Cambridge squeezed ahead the Beavers, 13-12.

Arapahoe Rolling On.

Mather, Arapahoe's fleet back, scored five touchdowns as Arapahoe steam-rollered Bertrand, 38-0. Benkelman won, 20-6, at Culbertson; Naponee scored on the first play and beat Kearney Prep, 33-0. Blue Hill turned back Bloomington, 19-0.

Superior, Sutton, Nelson and Edgar, the "big four" of the Southern conference, won by handy margins. Coach Lee Penney's Superior team flattened Red Cloud, 32-0; Coach Bob Henley's Sutton outfit won a 14-0 victory over the strong Clay Center eleven, and Coach Frank Kerner's Edgar boys remained undefeated by dumping Davenport, 24-0. Nelson ran away from Hebron, 39-0, Geneva beat Fairmont, 12-7.

Loup City, defeated only by Burwell this season, smothered Merna, 40-0, and Ord raced away from North Loup, 35-0. Sargent showed improvement in beating Callaway 13-0. Litchfield played Ansley to a scoreless tie and then beat Anelmo, 6-0. Clarks won, 13-0, from Wolbach and Brady beat Farnam, 12-0. Ravenna outscored Shelton, 26-6.

In the southeast, the Shubert winning streak was finally snapped when Table Rock won a 6-0 game. Pawnee City beat Sterling, 15-0, and Auburn performed impressively in winning from Plattsmouth, 27-0. Cortland upset Elmwood, 13-6; Weeping Water spilled Adams, 33-0, and Valley won from Ashland, 8-0.

Sidney Reigns In West.

Sidney reigns supreme in the "Big Three" of the Western conference as a result of a 19-6 victory over Alliance. Witters intercepted a pass and hiked 90 yards for the final touchdown. Sidney previously had defeated Scottsbluff.

Kearney struck for two touchdowns and a safety in five minutes of the third quarters and surprised Hastings, 16-7. Grand Island worked the air lanes, to smear the Albion record, 14-7.

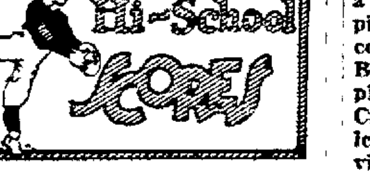
David City presented a strong line to stop the Columbus running attack, but didn't have the punch in the backfield to pierce the Discoverers' line and the game wound up a scoreless tie. Coach Ken Kellough's David City outfit has one of the smoothest lines in the state and is yet to be scored upon. Columbus flashed little more than Charley Brock, who snapped the ball back from center, played a defensive tackle position, passed, punted and called signals. Incidentally, it was the third tie of the season for Columbus, which had been held even by York and Omaha Tech. Fullerton won an important Pla-Loup game from Genoa, 8-0. Shelby beat Stromsburg, 7-0.

South Sioux Leads League.

South Sioux City topped the Tri-Valley standings as a result of a 12-2 victory over Tekamah. Winnebago won, 6-0 from Emerson; Pender led Wakefield, 13-7, and Decatur walloped Homer, 32-0.

Norfolk scored twice in the last period to beat Neligh 12-0; Madison slaughtered Wayne Prep 46-0; Niobrara beat Spencer, 21-0; Laurel tripped Randolph, 26-7; Tilden finished 12-6 ahead Stanton. Hartington continued undefeated with a 19-7 win at Bloomfield. Wausa nipped Verdigre 7-6. Coleridge swamped Newcastle, 38-0.

Nebraska teams didn't fare so well with outside opposition last week. Winner S. D., handed Valentine a first defeat 7-0. Cheyenne, Wyo., won 12-7 at Scottsbluff and Humboldt finished 13-13 with Powhattan Kas.



At Omaha—Creighton Prep, 14; Benson 0.
At Scottsbluff—Cheyenne, Wyo., 12; Scottsbluff, 7.
At Omaha—Omaha Central 12, Omaha Tech 0.
At Nelson—Nelson 39, Hebron 0.
At McCook—Holdrege, 7, McCook, 0.

Three Mikes On Card.

MIKE MARKOFF.

The Mikes—not the microphones but the wrestler fellows—will just about dominate the Tuesday night mat show at the 4-H arena. Two of them—Mike Markoff of Russia and Mike Brendel of Austria—will exchange grunts, also grips, in the 20-minute preliminary. Steve Savage, Chicago, and Mike Gettson, strongman from the land of the bolsheviks, are scheduled to collide in the main event. The semi-windup will pit Arthur Von Saxon against Pat McGill.

No Chance for Jerry Go Against Panthers

There is no chance that Jerry LaNoue, fleet Wisner halfback, will be ready to join the Cornhuskers for the intersectional battle with the Pitt Panthers at Memorial stadium, Nov., 10, Head Coach Bible declared Monday.

JERRY LA NOUE

LaNoue's broken collarbone is on the mend, but Bible declared the Husker back would not be ready for Pitt and he doubts if Jerry will be in shape to play in any of the late November games.

JACKSON TOPS LINCOLN LOOP

Beechner Boys the Only Unbeaten Eleven In Capital City.

GREATER LINCOLN LEAGUE.

RESULTS LAST WEEK.

At Wesleyan—Jackson, 7; Bethany, 0.
At College View—College View, 7, Havelock, 0.
At Friend—Cathedral, 12; Friend, 0.
At Wymore—Cathedral, 0; Wymore, 0.
At Cotner—Bethany, 25; Sterling, 6.

GAMES THIS WEEK.

Tuesday, Oct. 30—Cathedral at Lincoln Reserves.
Friday, Nov. 2—Ashland at Bethany, College View at Wymore, Jackson at Crete, Cathedral at St. Cecelia's (Omaha).
Saturday, Nov. 3—Lincoln Reserves at Crete Reserves.

Jackson high vaulted into first place in the Greater Lincoln league percentage tables last week with a 7-0 victory over Bethany, while Havelock, previously undefeated, was dropping a verdict to College View by an identical score. Jackson now is the only undefeated team within the confines of the city of Lincoln, either college or high school.

Jackson Not Impressive.

The big Crimson eleven, however, looked far from impressive in downing Bethany and must spruce up before tackling any other league opponents. The Beechners cut loose but once during the game, the 61-yard drive which culminated in a fourth-period touchdown. Meanwhile, College View took Havelock into camp when Marion Marrow intercepted a flip and waddled 55 yards to a score. The Engineers repeatedly frustrated Viewmen drives deep in scoring territory.

Non-loop games last week found Cathedral playing to a scoreless tie at Wymore and beating Friend 12-0, and Bethany measuring Sterling by a 25-6 count.

This weeks' program shows but one game with a bearing on the championship, that the Tuesday meeting of the Lincoln Reserves and Cathedral at the L. H. S. oval with the Red and Black seconds a heavy favorite.

Outside games this week are topped by Jackson's invasion of Crete in which the Crimson will try to put a crimp in Crete's win streak but will be given little chance to accomplish the trick. Ashland appears against Bethany at Cotner; College View goes to Wymore; Cathedral takes on St. Cecelia's on an Omaha grid and Lincoln Reserves buck the Crete Reserves in other games this week.

Knight, Davis Set Pace.

George "Bus" Knight and Neal Davis, the two ramrods of the Jackson high attack, are setting the pace among Greater Lincoln league scorers with 20 points apiece while Davis and Dwight Whittaker of Havelock are tied among the point-getters in league games only with 13 tallies each. Individual scoring leaders:

ILLINOIS.

URBANA, Ill., Oct. 29—(INS)—Steve Steib, fast-stepping reserve back, was relegated to the freshman team today, where he will be identified as Jack Buckler, star Army back, for the edification of the Illini varsity. The Illini came out of the Michigan game without injuries. A crowd of 50,000 is anticipated for the Army game here Saturday.

BIG 6 CONCEDES NEBRASKA BEST

Conference Folks Fear Huskers On Way To Another Title.

BY CHARLES GRUMICH.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 29—(AP)—The Big Six awoke today to the realization that Nebraska still dominates in football. And, with its two most serious challengers sidetracked by narrow margins, is quite likely to be champion of the conference for the fourth consecutive year.

It's the same old story, although some wouldn't be convinced until the Huskers first knocked off Oklahoma and then the surprisingly threatening Iowa State Cyclones by the difference of a point after touchdown; and, as usual, there's nothing much to speculate upon except the battle for the runner-up position.

Having defeated Oklahoma by 6-0 and Iowa State by 7-6 when the Cyclone kicking department, rated as the best in the conference—punts and placekicks considered—failed at the crucial moment, Nebraska faces two weeks of preparation for the invasion of Pitt and then the last phase of the conference campaign against the three weaker teams—Kansas, Missouri and Kansas State.

Huskers Idle This Week.

Nebraska's schedule allows absence from competition for one Saturday between the first and second halves of the Cornhusker campaign—the Saturday before the tough intersectional battle with Pitt's Panthers—but the remainder of the conference, those perennial contenders for second place, goes ahead with its battling this week-end.

Oklahoma, tied at 7-7 last Saturday by a remarkable aerial rally put on by Kansas in the last quarter, meets the Missouri team that gave the University of Chicago a light attack of the jitters which lasted until the Maroons settled down to their work and turned a 6-6 tie into a 19-6 victory. Missouri's touchdown against Chicago, the first achieved by the Tigers since the middle of last season, was scored when Dale Ream, guard, recovered a Chicago fumble in the end zone.

Sooner Threat Fizzles.

Oklahoma was Missouri's last major victim, back in 1932 at Norman, where they meet again Saturday. The anticipated Sooner threat has almost vanished as a result of Oklahoma's failure to score more than two touchdowns in four games.

Heartened considerably by the improvement of its overhead game and the first touchdown in major competition this season, Kansas invades Ames to meet Iowa State's deflated title contenders Saturday.

Kansas State, blanked for the first time this year in its 0-21 loss to Tulsa university's Golden Hurricane last Saturday, has a Friday night engagement in Topeka, Kas., with Washburn college, a "breather" opponent.

Bluebirds Tackle Reserves Tuesday

Greater Lincoln league competition will take the center of the local grid stage Tuesday afternoon when Coach Ralph Andrews' Lincoln high Reserves tangle with the Cathedral high eleven on Oval field. Both clubs indulged in light workouts Monday.

Probable Starting Lineups.

Reserves—	Pos.	Cathedral
Ennen	LE	Kilcoyne
Goodale	LT	Neal
Hill	LG	Drew
Benson	C	Jaworski
Griswold	RG	Haberlan
Challstrom	RT	Brick
Folsom	RE	Costello
Cather	QB	Malone
Rood	HB	McManus
Martin	HB	O'Driscoll
Kinneman	FB	Alesio

The loss of a half dozen first string performers last week left Andrews faced with the problem of molding a new combination from the few experienced men left him. Shifts in line berths will be particularly prominent.

Heartened by a victory over Friend, the Bluebirds will be set to make good the threat flung at league elevens when College View was held all but scoreless by the Cathedral clan. Father Obrist's boys have suffered one defeat in league competition.

CARTER HIGH MAN IN SUNDAY SHOOT

George Carter's 49x50 score was the top performance of the Lincoln Gun club's Sunday afternoon practice shoot. The attendance was below standard, as many of the club members were making the most of the open season on ducks. Sunday scores:

Helzer	115x125	Lindercamp	42x50
Wood	94x100	Gadis	42x50
C. Stuart, Sr.	63x75	Sutton	41x50
Bivens	60x75	Murphy	24x50
Olson	58x75	Knight	27x25
Carter	49x50	Butcher	18x25
Hermance	44x50	Thomas	14x25

NORTHWESTERN.

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 29—(INS)—Tired, battered and bruised, after three successive defeats, Northwestern footballers were to have a respite from practice today. The Wildcats emerged from the Ohio State game without serious injuries, though a leg bruise will keep Al Lind, center, on the sidelines for several days, and a charley-horse will keep Carl Devry, guard, inactive for a day or two. Both will be ready for the Wisconsin game Saturday however.

Crete Hi Invades Beatrice Tonight

BEATRICE, Neb., Oct. 29—Crete high school's hopes for a 1934 mythical state championship will hinge on the outcome of Crete's invasion of Beatrice Monday night in the play-off of a postponed game. Crete is one of the state-wide leaders, having recorded five victories in as many starts, while Beatrice has won three of four, losing the opener to Tecumseh. The Monday night kickoff is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Walsh Boils Nation's Best In Pigskin Sport Down to Six Teams

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(INS)—Vanderbilt no longer is in the running for the national football championship. Neither are Holy Cross, Duke, Iowa State, Penn State and Detroit. All were beaten for the first time during a rather wild week end of football, which saw nineteen major teams survive, one of them still unscored-upon, quite a few still untied and all of them still undefeated.

Names His Six Best.

If I had to name the six Best, rated off current performances, I'd take Alabama, Stanford, Washington, Louisiana State, Minnesota and maybe Rice, since the southwest seems to be having a monumental year. This statement, of course, will not please the Army, Illinois, Syracuse, the Navy, Dartmouth, Princeton, Chicago, Michigan State and Santa Clara, who may not justly belong in a second group, or Temple, Tulane, Georgetown and George Washington, who may not feel that they belong in a third.

Louisiana State, for instance has played two ties, but any team that beats Vanderbilt by 29 to 0, after taking Arkansas the week before just can't be figured any lower than the top. Alabama, too, remains impressive with its 26 to 6 victory over Georgia, which scored only as the result of a break.

Gophers' Still Unstoppable.

As for Minnesota, it continued its remarkable pace with 23 first downs, a total of 595 yards by rushing and a score of 48 to 12, which is extraordinary even against Iowa. As a matter of fact, it would even be extraordinary against a lot of charwomen. The two coast teams, Stanford and Washington, must make the top group because any undefeated team on the coast inevitably belongs.

Washington, however, really did not prove itself until Saturday when it won, 13 to 7, from what was reputed to be intrinsically the best out there, namely California. Stanford, meantime, beat Southern California, 16 to 0—no great accomplishment these days, except that U. S. C. must have been in there with its Sunday effort of the entire season.

Can't Laugh at Rice.

Rice not only has survived a back-breaking schedule to date, but its performance Saturday, while trailing Texas by 9 to 6, was something to take home and hang on the living room wall. With two minutes to go, it scored two touchdowns, one for each. You can laugh off a ball club like that in a high falsetto.

The Army and Dartmouth are not yet rated up there with the best because of light schedules. Dartmouth came out of the Christian Endeavour league Saturday to beat Harvard by 10 to 0—keeping its goal line and goal posts uncrossed. But it still has to prove itself against major competition, meaning that Harvard obviously isn't. The Army, meantime, won easily from Yale, although the score, 20 to 12, hardly indicated ease. However, the score was distinctly a delusion. The Army was pretty good: Yale, pretty bad.

Illinois beat a sub-normal Michigan team, 7 to 6, the second big time opponent the Illini have beaten by a ingle point. It shouldn't have been that close Saturday, yet the score speaks for itself, especially in the light of earlier developments in the Michigan season.

There is no particular reason for dropping Michigan State, which did not play Saturday; the Navy, Syracuse and Santa Clara below the first group, except that the first three might have taken on stiffer opposition so far and Santa Clara, according to coast advices, figures just a shade below Stanford, with which it has an early season tie.

Princeton rolled up 45 points on Cornell, but has been playing the sorority schools and was lucky to get away with W. & L., at that. The Navy went on its winning way with a 17 to 0 victory over Pennsylvania and undoubtedly is good. But it isn't any better than the Army. Syracuse beat Brown, 33 to 0, but they're all doing it. The Orange must beat somebody in its own class before it makes the front line.

Chicago Loses Prestige.

Chicago had been up there, but its 6 to 6 half-time score with Missouri drops the Maroon down a notch, at least for the time being, although it finally won, 19 to 6. They all beat Missouri.

Tulane, winning from Georgia Tech, 20 to 12, remains undefeated, but somehow fails to be greatly impressive. Georgetown's scoreless tie with N. Y. U. didn't improve the former's prestige and Temple, with its 28 to 6 victory over Marquette, would be all right if it wasn't for its tie with Indiana.

As for the beaten-for-the-first-time lads, Nebraska took Iowa State by a point, 7 to 6, probably clapping a chattel mortgage on the Big Six title thereby; Columbia came from behind in the last period to win from Penn State, 14 to 7; Detroit lost without an audible murmur to Duquesne Friday night, and Tennessee won convincingly from Duke, 14 to 6.

As for Colgate, it completely mystified Holy Cross with its hocus-pocus stuff, making long-gain plays for a 20 to 7 victory.

Additional Results.

Other outstanding scores of the day were: Southern Methodist, 26, Fordham 14, making the southwest look better than ever. Centenary 13, Texas Christian 0. Providence 13, Boston college 7, proving that anybody can do it. Purdue 20, Carnegie Tech 0 (it's habitual). Texas A. & M. 10, Baylor 7. Tulsa 21, Kansas State 0. Colorado 27, Colorado Aggies 9. Idaho 13, Montana 6. Maryland 21, Florida 0. North Carolina 7, North Carolina State 7. Notre Dame 19, Wisconsin 0, the Irish being away out the better team. Kansas 7, Oklahoma 7. Ohio State 28, Northwestern 6, the Buckeyes still being one of the best in the land. Oregon 8, Utah 7, the former being lucky to win by a safety. Wyoming 0, Denver 9. Washington State 31, Oregon State 0.

SUNDAY RESULTS IN TOUCH LEAGUE

Three forfeits marred proceedings in touch football play Sunday afternoon as three leagues went into action. Gooch's and Iowa-Nebraska Power received credit for victories in the Industrial league when Street Department and Telephones failed to appear and Modern Cleaners won from Bankers Life in the same manner in a City league game.

College View romped on the Star, 26-0, in the other Industrial league conflict, while Havelock blanked Uni Place, 12-0, and Urban League, colored, won a 6-0 verdict from Bethany in the City loop. A touchdown and safety gave Ben Simon's an 8-0 victory over Stuart in the Building league, while Gold's barely nosed out Rudge & Guenzel, 13-12, and First National whipped Magee's, 6-0, in the other games.

Pitt Game Tickets Released Next Week

All ticket reservations to the Nebraska-Pittsburgh game will released Monday, Nov. 5, according to John K. Selleck, business manager of Cornhusker athletics. Selleck announced Monday that the reservations had been "pretty well picked up" and he doubted if there would be many seats released next week.

Not the Victory, But the Game.

BY CLYDE E. M'BRIDE.
(In the Kansas City Star.)

UP NEBRASKA way it's football for football's sake rather than stressing the victory. In other words, it's the game, not rosy chances for victory over the visiting team, that lures the customers to the Nebraska stadium.

That fact—and I believe it to be a fact—recently was called to my attention by that veteran critic and writer, your Uncle Cyrus Sherman, the oldest gridiron commentator in the Valley.

A good game at Nebraska draws, and if there seems to be a chance that Nebraska will lose, the game seems to draw all the more. I am rather inclined to believe that this fine morale of Nebraska's football crowds has come about through long years of high-powered teams and championships but, even so, the entire scheme of football at Nebraska seems to be football for the game's sake.

It is not that way in some other places Mr. Sherman might mention, were he talking out loud for publication. In too many places the game will draw big if the home team looks like a winner, not so many if the home team "dopes" as the loser. Some writers of football seem to wield their typewriters along that line. Up Lincoln way the scribblers go heavy on the game of football itself. They like to see Nebraska win, of course, but nearly always, unless there is just cause, there is no crabbing when the Cornhuskers lose.

Football is KING up Nebraska way and the folks go for it

THRONGS FLOCK TO FAIR.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 — (AP) — The world's fair swan song is swelling to a symphony of success. Belated visitors pushed attendance Saturday and Sunday to nearly 436,000, a new record for a week-end. If attendance keeps up at the present rate, the 16 millionth visitor of 1934 will with his single admission shove the $50,000,000 show out of the red and into the black some time Wednesday. The fair closes at midnight that day.

Dr. William P. Aiken Is Taken By Death

Omaha Pastor Was Former Nebraska Moderator of United Presbyterian Church.

OMAHA Oct. 29 — (AP)—Dr. William Aikin 57, pastor of Central United Presbyterian church of Omaha, died Sunday at his home, where he had been ill for the past two weeks. Death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage. He was stricken October 9 by a sudden illness, believed to have resulted from overwork.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon. The body will be taken to the church at Canonsburg, a suburb of Pittsburgh, where he served as pastor for 21 years. Burial will be made at New Concord, O., his early home.

He came to Omaha in February, 1931. The following year he was chosen moderator of the Presbytery of Nebraska of the United Presbyterian church of North America, serving until last year.

2,500 Visitors at Winter Zoo Sunday

More than 2,500 persons visited the Antelope park winter zoo Sunday. Within an hour from the time the doors were opened at 10 a. m., the place was full and continued crowded during the rest of the day, Chet Ager, park executive said. He added that many of the visitors were from outside the state, as well as from counties other than Lancaster.

The quarters, in the south half of the greenhouse, were remodeled during the summer to give them a tropical appearance, the landscaping including a tropical garden, small pools and running water. The cages are all new and sanitary.

There are eighteen varieties of animals and birds in the greenhouse, all of tropical origin. About as many more will be added within the next few weeks, they having been ordered from a west coast aviary.

Editors Organize For Water Project

HOLDREGE, Neb., Oct. 29—(AP)—Editors in the area of the proposed Tri-County irrigation and power project are pushing publicity plans for the development under the name of the "We Want Water" Press club. The club was formed by representatives of 14 newspapers here Sunday, with H. G. Smith of Hastings as president. Al Mortensen of Minden is vice president, and Harold Hamil of Hastings, secretary. Newspapermen of 25 counties will be invited to join.

Stock Market Moves Somewhat Erratically In One Of Dullest Full Sessions In About A Month

Closing Tone In Equities Is Easy

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(AP)—

In one of the dullest full sessions in about a month, stocks moved somewhat erratically today. While a steady tone was evident during most of the proceedings, and a few issues recorded gains of a point or so the list displayed a downward drift in the final hour. The close was easy. Transfers approximated 410,000 shares.

Financial markets did little more than go through the motions today and prices, generally, gave no clue as to impending trends.

Stocks were comparatively steady, although trading was the dullest in several weeks. The ticker tape was motionless for minutes at a time. The public apparently had little taste for equity speculation and the few usually active operators stood aside to watch for signs and portents.

Most commodities were apathetic. Grains held to a restricted groove, but cotton improved moderately. Bonds were exceptionally quiet and slightly irregular. The dollar, at the same time, moved somewhat higher in terms of leading foreign exchanges.

There were a few share gainers of around a point or so. Among these were Universal Leaf Tobacco, American Tobacco B, Reynolds Metals, Ingersoll-Rand and Standard Oil of California. Some of the alcohols, including National Distillers and Schenley, were a bit higher, as were Safeway Stores, Union Oil of California, Union Pacific, Loew's, Johns-Manville and Gillette. The recently depressed Baldwin Locomotive preferred got back nearly a point. Reynolds Tobacco B lost as much, and such issues as U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Montgomery Ward, American Can, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Santa Fe and Bethlehem Steel were virtually unchanged. Kroger Grocery and Jewel Tea were a trifle easier.

The various chain store stocks did not appear to be particularly disturbed by the labor troubles encountered by the Great Atlantic & Pacific organization, although it was realized that sales might be seriously affected if the controversy with the unions should spread.

Third quarter earnings statements of important corporations, most of which have been far from optimistic, continued to be the principal fly in the market ointment.

There was much conjecture as to what would transpire at the meeting of the U. S. Steel directors tomorrow. Although the quarterly report of "big steel" was expected ot disclose a sizeable deficit, in view of the sharply reduced operating rate of the industry during the period, the belief of most observers was that the 50-cent payment on the preferred would be continued.

Some analysts advanced the thought that no evidence has yet appeared to indicate the market is in a major liquidating phase. Sustaining factors, it was pointed out, include abundance of capital, absence of financial crisis, prospects of expanding government spending and finally, if the administration's managed recovery ultimately fails, then a measure of inflation growing out of an unbalanced budget.

Chicago Produce.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29—(AP)—

Butter was steady in tone tdoay. Eggs and poultry also were steady.

Reports on fresh butter production vary to some extent, but considering a price of 28 to 31 cents for butterfat it is expected by the trade the producer will strive for greater production in that payment for butter fat i quick and certain. Consequently there is every indication of closely sustained outputs, at least for a while.

Many dealers entertain bullish beliefs. Government buying dominates, and its continuation can only mean relatively high prices, according to most handlers.

Wheat Prices At Chicago Tumble

CHICAGO, Oct. 29—(AP)—

Sharp breaks in wheat prices late today resulted from dispatches saying that Prime Minister Bennett of Canada had decided on restriction and control of speculative operations on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Chicago wheat underwent a tumble of about 2 cents a bushel, falling to a new low price record for the season. Chicago holders of wheat futures sold freely on the way down.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1-1⅞c under Saturday's finish. May 94¼-⅜c, corn ⅜-⅝c off, May 75⅞-76c, oats ⅜-⅝c down, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7 cents.

Material upturns in grain values took place early today following word of yellow rust threatening the new Argentine wheat crop. Official announcement from Buenos Aires said the pest was spreading rapidly over vast zones in the provinces of Cordoba and Santa Fe. Opening ⅜-¾c higher, May 96¼-½c, wheat afterward rose further. Corn started ¼-½c up, May 77c, and continued to mount.

Unexpected strength shown by the Liverpool wheat market gave emphasis to bullish sentiment and was associated with menacing Argentine crop reports. Advices from Cordoba province, where 30 per cent of the entire Argentine crop is produced, said growers in one section were hoping for no worse than half a crop. Under such circumstances, Chicago wheat values climbed soon more than a cent a bushel.

Acting, however, as a restraint on wheat bulls was uncertainty over a statement expected from Premier Bennett of Canada regarding wheat marketing methods. Consequent setbacks from early gains carried Chicago prices down at times to below Saturday's finish. A break in wheat quotations at Buenos Aires was also a handicap to bulls. On the other hand, smallness of domestic primary receipts of wheat, 386,000 bushels against 765,000 a week ago, served as a steadying influence. Relative firmness of oats and rye were also helpful to wheat. Corn was governed mainly by wheat changes.

Provisions tended upward with hog values.

About midsession, wheat was ⅝c lower to ¼c higher compared with Saturday's finish, and corn was unchanged to ¼c lower.

Corn receipts in Chicago today were 128 cars; a week ago 87 and a year ago 381.

Grain Notes

CHICAGO, Oct. 29—(AP)—Traders today awaited with interest an announcement which Canadian officials indicated last week would be made by Premier Bennett concerning the future policy of that country in regulating grain trading. No hints as to the provisions of the proposed new plan had been given to the trade, but observers said the change will be the result of recent charges by John I. MacFarland, director of the Canadian wheat agency, that the government agency at Winnipeg had had trouble maintaining prices during a sharp break in wheat prices at Liverpool and Buenos Aires. The difficulty was said to have originated from the selling of futures at Winnipeg by the trade interests of foreign countries.

Theoretically Winnipeg has been a "free market," but rigid restrictions have been laid down by the government. Virtual certainty that other countries would purchase about 250,000,000 bushels of Manitoba wheat this season caused the Canadian government to throw its support to the market and keep prices high above a world level.

The revision of policy in regulating the exchanges was not expected to be much different than at present except as to the effect on the futures transactions by speculators and traders in other countries. Most all leading import and export nations now regulate trading in grains.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(AP)—

Bond prices showed extremely narrow fluctuations in the early trading today. Changes were generally confined to the smallest fractions and revealed no trend in either direction.

U. S. treasury issues were quiet, with changes ranging from losses of 3-32 to gains of 3-32 of a point.

Rail bonds held nearly motionless. Santa Fe 4s moved a shade higher, while Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, Missouri Pacific 5s, Nickel Plate 4½s, St. Paul 5s and Southern Railway 4s lost minor fractions.

Utility and industrial issues failed to attract any interest. American & Foreign Power 5s, Armour & Co. 4½s and Goodyear 5s eased, and Standard Oil of New York 4½s improved slightly.

Foreign government obligations were listless, although Uruguay 5s rose nearly a point. Brazil 6½s and Colombia 6s declined.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(AP)—

The curb market was fairly steady today although utilities and some of the oils failed to find support and sold a trifle lower. Specialties and industrials developed moderate strength, but the turnover was small. Trading was at a slow pace.

Midvale Co. advanced 3 points and gains of one to two were made by such issues as Davenport Hosiery, Sherwin Williams and United Shoe Machinery. Further activity in the alcohol shares was reflected in an advance of around 1¼ points in Hiram Walker.

A decline of 5 points in the non-voting issue and nearly 2 points in the preferred stock of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. was attributed to the company's labor troubles at Cleveland and Milwaukee. In each case only a nominal amount of stock was offered. Other issues selling a trifle lower included American Gas, Electric Bond & Share and Wright Hargreaves.

VISIBLE GRAIN SUPPLY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(AP)—

The visible supply of American grain shows the following changes, in bushels: Wheat decreased 1,787,000; corn decreased 198,000; oats decreased 109,000; rye decreased 116,000; barley increased 352,000.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(AP)—

Early advances on scattered buying and a moderate demand through houses with foreign connections promoted by relatively steady Liverpool cables was followed by reactions in cotton today under comparatively light offerings from the south adn realizing. After selling up from 12.24 to 12.32 on the early advance or about 6 to 9 points net higher, the market eased off to 12.23 for December during the middle of the afternoon when active months were holding within a point either way of yesterday's closing quotations.

Futures closed barely steady, 1 8 lower. Dec., 12.20-21; Jan., 12.23; March, 12.26; May, 12.32; July, 12.32-33; Oct., 12.21. Spot quiet; middling, 12.45.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(AP)—

After declining 3 to 4 points under increased liquidation and selling by trade and producing interests promoted by the continued inactivity in the spot market, sugar futures rallied partially on renewed covering and commission house buying on rumors that financial arrangements were being worked out for the holding of Cuba's remaining quota supplies. December contracts rallied from 1.75 to 1.78 and March from 1.66 to 1.67 or back to within a point of the previous close with the market at the beginning of the last hour holding around these levels.

Futures closed irregular, 1-4 lower; sales 18,450 tons. Dec., 1.78; Jan. 1.70-71; March 1.67; May, 1.69-70; July, 1.74; Sep., 1.77B.

Wall Street Briefs

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—A public offering of $20,000,000 three-year 3 per cent coupon notes of the Edison Electric Illuminating Co., of Boston was made today by nationwide banking group headed by the First Boston corporation. The notes were priced at 100½, to yield 2.825 per cent. Proceeds will be used in connection with the retirement of the company's 5 per cent notes due May 2, 1935.

California crude oil output for the week ended Oct. 27 averaged 462,050 barrels daily against 472,600 in the previous week.

The general improvement in manufacturing activity usually seasonal in September did not occur last month, according to the monthly survey of the national industrial conference board. Instead, said the survey, there were declines of 5.7 per cent in number of wage earners employed of 6.1 per cent in total man-hours worked, and of 5.8 per cent in payrolls disbursed. In addition the rise in the cost of living from August to September depressed real weekly earnings of wage earners 2.1 per cent, the board reported.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29—(INS)—The Chicago football squad will do a little reviewing in fundamentals this week as an antidote for the fumbling which prevailed in the Missouri game Saturday. Six Chicago fumbles were recovered by Missouri, one of them for a touchdown. Coach Shaughnessy will attempt to develop some capable reserves before the Purdue battle here this week. The Boilermakers hold six successive victories over Chicago.

EX-HUSKERS IN PRO SPOTLIGHT

Presnell and Hokuf Go At Swift Pace In Grid League.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(INS)—While those surprising Detroit Lions and Chicago Bears continue in a death grip for the leadership of the National Professional football league, the New York Giants are going quietly about their business waiting for one of the top-notchers to falter. The Giants are plenty of a football team and they should make things interesting for all comers before the current season is over.

With Ken Strong playing his usual powerful game, the Giants downed the Philadelphia Eagles for their fifth straight in New York yesterday.

The most impressive performance of the day, however, was the 38 to 0 victory scored by the Lions over the hapless Cincinnati Reds at Portsmouth, Ohio. It was the seventh consecutive victory for the Lions who have yet to be scored upon. Glenn Presnell, former Nebraska, scored one of the Lions' touchdowns and added a field goal.

Bears Bump Packers.

The Bears, led by the indomitable Beattie Feathers, won their seventh straight, defeating the Green Bay Packers, 27 to 14.

The Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 21 to 3, with Cliff Montgomery, Columbia's Rose Bowl star, doing some nifty passing.

The Boston Redskins kicked and tossed their way to a 9-0 victory over the Chicago Cardinals. Steve Hokuf, former Nebraska grid hero, was the star of the game. Hokuf kicked a field goal and passed to Rentner for a touchdown. O'Brien, another ex-Nebraskan was in the Redskins' lineup at one of the tackle stations.

Boulder Wants New Football Moniker

BOULDER, Colo., Oct. 29—(AP)—Wanted, a good he-man nickname for Colorado university's football team. In contrast to the "Bears," "Cowboys," etc., which designate other Rocky Mountain conference teams, Colorado has nothing but the college colors as a side name and the players think "Silver and Gold" is a bitt "sissy."

HUEY HINTS AT ROSE BOWL BID

Garrulous Senator Has Ambition Escort Team To California.

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 29—(AP)— Football-minded Baton Rouge, groggy after a week-end extravanganza of fun as the guest of Huey Long, today began talking about Louisiana State university's football team as a possible Rose Bowl contender, with the "kingfish" an added attraction.

They were thinking about the spectacular game they saw L. S. U.'s team play in defeating Vanderbilt Saturday at Nashville, Tenn., 29 to 0.

The cadet band of 150 pieces, the 1,500 strong uniformed cadet corps and hundreds of other students saw the Nashville game because the senator got up five special trains and took them at his own expense.

Fans argued that if their team goes through the rest of its difficult schedule undefeatd and then has Huey Long to offer as an added crowd gatherer. Rose Bowl officials will think twice before picking some other squad for the New Year's day classic.

California Willing.

Out in California, the fans began to indicate they might relish seeing L. S. U., especially if the team could promise to bring along the versatile senator who "packed 'em in" at the Vanderbilt game and put on a show through three states never before equalled.

L. S. U. has already defeated Auburn, Arkansas and Vanderbilt, but has been tied by Rice and Southern Methodist.

They have Mississippi State, Tennessee, Tulane and Oregon to hurdle before the season is over.

The tired football crowd which made the trip and helped Huey stage a minstrel of fun along the train route and in Nashville, arrived back in Baton Rouge yesterday.

ELLEN M'ADOC "THINKS IT OVER"

AVALON, Cantalina Island, Cal., Oct. 29—(AP)—Miss Ellen McAdoo, 19-year-old daughter of Senator William Gibbs McAdoo spent the week-end "thinking over" her proposed marriage to Rafael Lopez De Onate, film actor, but whether she reached a decision was not disclosed.

Miss McAdoo, who met with stern parental objections after she had made plans to marry the actor, spent Sunday in seclusion at the home of a friend.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 29—(INS)—Coach "Doc" Spears prophesied a further shake-up of the Wisconsin starting lineup today as he prepared the Badgers for the game with Northwestern at Evanston Saturday.

JAPANESE NAVAL PLANS REJECTED

Proposal for New Treaty Based On Equality Is Unacceptable.

LONDON, Oct. 29—(AP)—The delegations of the three big naval powers—the United States, Great Britain and Japan—reached a cross-roads in their pathway toward naval agreement when the British and Americans today termed the Japanese proposals for a new treaty based on the principle of equality unacceptable and put the next move up to Japan.

GIRLS HUNT FOR CHICAGO KILLERS

Fiance of One Is Slain Protecting Them from Two Hoodlums.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29— (AP) — Three young women, saddened by the fate of the man who gave his life protecting them, pledged themselves today to unending efforts to track down the hoodlums who shot him.

With police in squad cars, they combed the city yesterday, helping round up suspects. Two score were seized, and a hundred others in custody on other charges were paraded before the women, but they were unable to pick out the killers of George Mayes, 31, Mt. Vernon, Ill.

Mayes was slain Saturday night on his way home from the world's fair with his fiancee, Miss Alta Eicher, 29, Summerfield, Ill., her sister, Irma, 24, and Miss Ida May Flettner, 29, Mexico, Mo. Two men boarded his car and made advances to the women. Mayes was shot when he refused to abandon the girls.

HENRY'S OUTFIT TOPS IN POINTS

Gwin's New Mexico Boys Hold First Place In Scoring Table.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(AP)—An Associated Press compilation today showed 32 college football teams neither beaten nor tied at the season's half-way mark.

There were heavy casualties over the week-end, no fewer than 16 schools dropping off the list either because of defeat or tie. Among these were such major teams as Holy Cross, Duke, Utah, Vanderbilt, Iowa State, Georgetown university and Penn State.

JACK CARD, N. U. STUDENT; DIES

Succumbs To Infantile Paralysis; Others In Family Recovering.

Jack Howard Card, 20, University of Nebraska junior, died at his home, 2324 Washington street, early Sunday morning, following an illness of less than a week. His illness was reported to the health department as infantile paralysis. He became ill Monday and went to bed Wednesday.

Jack Card

A sister, Dorothy Card, became sick two days before Jack but she is now recovering, members of the family reported. The home is still under quarantine, however. A niece of the dead boy, Lynn Morgan, nearly 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Morgan, 2600 Q street has also been suffering from the malady but she is also reported as recovering.

Jack was a junior in the college of business administration and belonged to Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. He was a regular attendant of the First and Westminster Presbyterian churches. He was born at Fonda, Ia., and came to Lincoln with his parents about 18 years ago.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Card; three sisters, Dorothy at home, Mrs. Gladys Miller of Shenandoah, Ia., and Mrs. Annabelle Morgan of Lincoln; and two brothers, William of Madison, Wis., and Clyde of Ashby, Neb.

The body is at Roberts mortuary.

Two Hurt In Downtown Accidents Here Sunday

Little Barbara Franks, 2½ years old, 1025 Q street, suffered a head injury and lacerations on the forehead and a bruised upper lip when the car in which she was riding with Mrs. Charles Dasher, 1022 Q street, collided with a machine driven by Mrs. L. G. Curtis of Fairbury at Thirteenth and Q streets Sunday afternoon.

James Gammel, 70, 245 South Thirtieth street, suffered lacerations about the head, arm and hand and bruises over the body when he was struck by a car driven by Robert Williamson, 20, of Beatrice at Fourteenth and N Sunday evening. Police said that Gammel was walking west across Fourteenth street at the time.

The little Franks girl and Mr. Gammel were taken to St Elizabeth's hospital. Barbara was released after being attended by Dr. George E. Lewis. Dr. Czar Johnson is attending Mr. Gammel.

O'CONNELL IS OFFICER.

DES MOINES, Oct. 29—(AP)—State Game Warden Frank O'Connell of Nebraska was elected vice chairman of the Association of Midwest Fish and Game Commissioners, organized here yesterday.

Seven More Speed Trains to Be Built With Loans by PWA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—Seven more "bullet" trains will be zipping along the rails by next spring, powered by PWA money.

Public works loans totaling $2,270,000 for streamline, high speed passenger trains were announced last night. They go to five railroads.

These trains are driven by Diesel-electric power, but a loan of $900,000 to the Baltimore & Ohio will afford a chance to compare the merits of steam and oil-electric power.

Other loans go to the Gulf, Mobile & Northern Railroad Co., $350,000; New Haven, $300,000; Boston & Maine, $220,000, and Illinois Central, $500,000.

Troops on Guard In Florida City

MARIANNA, Fla., Oct. 29—(AP)—A company of guardsmen, manning machine guns from the courthouse doorway, remained on duty today to check any further mob violence, following the lynching of a negro for attacking and killing a white girl, and threats against a white man accused of slaying a deputy sheriff.

At the courthouse, guardsmen awaited the scheduled sentencing of Buford Mears and M. F. Dudley, two men convicted of the recent bank robbery at Malone.

Precaution was taken against possible violence centering about Mears, said by Sheriff W. C. Chambliss to have shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Don Hamm who was aiding the sheriff to transfer the two convicted bank robbers to the Quincy jail after they had been found guilty.

First Christian Pays Honor to Choirs and Mrs. Van Kirk Leader

In appreciation for the services of their four choirs and the director, Mrs. Lenore Burkett Van Kirk, the congregation of First Christian church, Sixteenth and K streets, held its annual consecration service Sunday night. The membership of the senior, the chapel and the boys and girls choirs totals 91. Rev. Ray Hunt was in charge of the ceremonies, attended by nearly 400.

The First Christian music committee is headed by Mrs. R. A. Bickford, assisted by Mrs. Clement Leger, Dr. W. T. Spencer and Dr. S. W. Alford. Karma Venable is the organist.

Oakie and Lease Now in Ranks of Hollywood 'Pugs'

Comedian Engages in One-Punch Bout With Another Film Figure.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29—(AP)—Jack Oakie, screen comedian with a penchant for wisecracks, was alleged to have spoken out of turn with the result that today he was listed in Hollywood's notorious pugilistic "Who's Who."

The comedian, so it appears from the best ringside information available, early yesterday morning in a night club engaged in a one-punch encounter with Rex Lease, also of the films.

The encounter, witnesses said, came shortly after Oakie entered the night club alone and sat down to a table occupied by Lease, another man and two young women. The comedian was said to have made some sort of wisecrack.

"There was nothing to it," said Oakie. "I don't know what I said to hurt Rex's feelings—if I said anything—but, anyway, he suddenly told me to 'cut it.' Then he gave me a kind of push. So I just left. I make a practice, you know to steer clear of all arguments. Got to protect my 'kisser,' you know. Besides, I'd already had my glass of beer. It was time for me to scram, anyway."

TURKEY CELEBRATES.

Minerva's Mail

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

State Of Servitude.

There are many forms of enslavement in life. We often stumble blindly into an undesirable state of servitude, or bondage to another, and have a woeful time extricating ourselves, if indeed we ever do regain our freedom.

We are often enslaved to our employers or our husbands or our wives or to our children or our parents. But it is of even more insiduous forms of enslavement that I am speaking today, treacherous because of their very simplicity, traps because they may be entered so easily and so innocently.

For example, you may become obligated to another person in any one of many hundreds of ways, and that obligation may cause you no end of disturbance and even heartache before you are through with it.

You should sternly though kindly of course, avoid being made the confidante of another person. For once you have listened to his (or probably her) tale of woe, you are permanently under obligation to her. You are obligated to listen to her further amplifications of whatever predicament she may be in, and you are obliged to keep her secret. If you do reveal her confidences to another, you are more ensnared than ever. For you will probably be reduced to falsification to try to cover up your delinquency. Or, if your duplicity becomes known, then you are obliged to explain and apologize and try to make amends and, oh deary me, no end of troubles are yours.

Don't accept favors which you cannot return. If you do, you are under obligations to meekly accept indignities or impositions from your benefactor, and you are forever hounded by the prickling sense of being unable to pay up that personal debt, be it social or otherwise. You don't have to return favors in kind, to keep the ledger squared off, but you do have to be able to check them off to the complete satisfaction of yourself and the other person involved.

You have to be wary even of accepting counsel from another (ye editor excepted, being the impersonal dealer in advice who cannot demand payment). If you seek and accept advice from another, you place the burden of the solution of your problem upon him. If all turns out well, and you have followed his recipe, then you are eternally his debtor. If things get no better rapidly with you, then you become an apologist to your advisor, in order to save his face, or else you must listen endlessly to further advice and explanations from him. Oh woe, oh misery.

The answer is to be independent, to stand on your own, so your final reports need be to self only. Hold much in reserve and neither give nor receive too freely.

Banking Head

Frigid Fiance.

Dear Minerva: I hate to confess that I'm one of the women who doesn't know her own mind. I always despised lack of decision. Yet here I am wallowing in a sad state of confusion, because I cannot make up my own mind. Six months ago I became engaged. His was a whirlwind courtship, although he had been a friend of the family for a long time. I had always admired him from afar, and my parents regard him as something of a God. He came here to be associated with my father in business. I won't give any more details of that, lest it identify us to readers. But, anyway, when he became interested in me I was flattered and thrilled. I am still flattered but not so thrilled.

Beyond giving me chaste, unemotional kisses something like salutes, he never gives any demonstration of tenderness and love. He never talks of love, but always of why we "will pull together real well." and of the practical aspects of our union. He elaborates upon how well pleased he is with his business prospects, with our town, our friends, my family and all of that. He makes me feel as if he had carefully considered our pedigree and standing, then coldly made his choice.

He is ambitious and a go-getter and all that. Likewise, he is very popular with all our friends. I am considered the luckiest of girls and I suppose I am. But all the warm emotion I held for him is being gradually congealed. If I become demonstrative, as is my nature, I feel effusive and unnatural. I've seen him carrying on mild little dance-floor flirtations with other girls, and I swear he looks a lot more animated than he does with me. He is heavy and ponderous on this mirriage proposition. Sometimes I think he's frightened, for he's been a bachelor for a good many years. Then again I am convinced that he doesn't really love me. At other times, I just think I'm an imaginative, fanciful fool for questioning so much and resolve to take the whole thing as the ideal mating that the others rate it to be.

So, if you have any ideas that might clarify my confusion, please dish them out to YOURS TRULY.

A. Your interpretation of the betrothal period certainly gives me the chills, too. I couldn't possibly encourage marriage, when you are so emotionally stranded and in the throes of such confusion. If your marriage date is set for any time soon. I'd advise that you devise some pretext for a postponement. Then, I believe separation for some time might clear up the horizon, by giving you a clearer perspective of the whole picture. Can't you wheedle your parents into giving you a vacation trip? Go visiting here and there, or maybe just there, but get away from your applauding friends and strange lover and see if the impersonal surroundings won't enable you to look honestly into your own heart and more clearly into his.

If you feel mostly a sense of relief at the miles between you and your problem, then it's pretty certain that there is no depth of love there. If you feel an acute longing for him and an inclination to excuse him and find reasons for his apparent lack of ardor, then you will have to go back for further tests, or perhaps to a certainty that you have been suffering from an overdose of emotionalism and imagination. Perhaps he will miss you so greatly that he will cast off his armour of diginity when you return. If you continue to feel chilled and doubtful, then you will simply have to give up this "ideal" marriage in prospect and find yourself a mate that is less ideal but more human.

Answered Briefly.

Delia: You will want evening clothes for your journey on shipboard. Part of the pleasure of such a trip is the social life and dinner clothes are generally worn on the de-luxe steamers. The man wears a tuxedo and the woman wears a semi-formal, or dinner dress. Most of the big liners have two dining rooms, formal dress being worn in one and informal in the other.

Kitty: You paid off a social debt to a feminine acquaintance, then she was right back at you with another invitation. Since it is a friendship you obviously do not wish to encourage, your cue is to decline any further invitations from her. Since you have already accepted this invitation, I think you should go through with it rather than trump up some last minute excuse for getting out of it. Then just call the books closed and don't invite her to any further functions.

Horace: You really have no social excuse for calling on the woman you met on the train, unless she suggested that you do so, or otherwise showed an interest in following up the very casual train acquaintanceship.

Make This Model At Home

THIS SHIRTWAIST DRESS I S STYLED FOR DASH!

PATTERN 2056

By ANNE ADAMS.

For the lucky girl who's going to a football game, or for the (in these times) just as lucky one who's going to the office—for the youthful matron who dashes to town for a morning's shopping—this suave tailored frock would be just about perfect. Square patch pockets on the bodice and the skirt— notched revers and trim belt—and to cap the climax it buttons all the way up to its smart tucked-in scarf. Use a rough wool fabric of a diagonal weave in Malacca brown perhaps or red-wine, with trim leather buttons. Top it all off with a jaunty Tyrolean hat and you'll feel as young as you look!

Pattern 2056 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 takes 2½ yards 54 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. Be sure to state size.

Order your winter pattern book. Order it now! The new Anne Adams models are stunning, and so easy to make! Designs for all ages and all occasions. Price of book, fifteen cents. Book and pattern together, twenty-five cents.

Address orders to Lincoln Star Pattern Department, 243 West 17th Street, New York City.

Rainfall Return Seen by Weather Bureau Official

Rain is not a thing of the past, even though most Nebraskans think so, Dr. C. C. Clark, assistant chief of the United States weather bureau, said in an interview here. "We are all optimistic that favorable moisture conditions will soon be restored," he said. "We make no long range predictions, of course, and we promise no dates."

Dr. Clark was making a survey tour of the middle west and visited over Sunday with T. A. Blair of the Lincoln bureau. He praised Dr. Blair as "one of our best men." He left Monday morning for Topeka, Kas.

He said the hope for more accurate weather predictions in the future lies almost entirely in the perfection of the daily airplane observations which were only recently begun at the larger stations. The greater knowledge of air currents and movements of flowing masses of air, he pointed out, make for more accurate predictions.

West Nebraska AAA Sugar Beet Program Is Being Organized

Preliminary educational meetings where farmers will gain first hand information about the AAA sugar beet program have started in western Nebraska and signing of contracts is expecter to be completed in the state by November 17, Harry G. Gould and R. E. Holland, district extension leaders at the Nebraska college of agriculture, said here today.

J. P. Ross, agricultural agent in Scottsbluff county, opened his series of preliminary meetings Saturday. Tuesday agents from surrounding beet growing counties are to gather in Scottsbluff for a conference with Ross where they will discuss plans for getting information about the program to farmers in their own counties.

In central Nebraska, only Hall, Buffalo and Dawson counties, are materially affected by the AAA plan. Preliminary meetings will start November 5 there and signing probably will take place the following week. Harvesting of beets is expected to be practically completed this week. Signing of contracts in the western section will start in some counties the fore part of next week.

The sugar beet growers should receive their benefit payments for signing up within a comparatively short time as a field office is now being set up in Denver from where Nebraskans will receive their checks.

Catholic Diocesan Women In Conference

Twenty Board Members Meet With Mrs. Straub; Full Day Program Tuesday.

A meeting of twenty members of the board of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women at the home of Mrs. W. E. Straub, 1933 B street, Monday afternoon, inaugurated a two-day program which will conclude with a business session, noon luncheon and afternoon meeting at the Lincoln hotel Tuesday.

Mrs. Straub, president, will be in charge of the Tuesday meeting which will begin with services at St. Mary's church at 8 o'clock, and registration at the hotel at 9 o'clock. Miss Ann Sarachon Hooley of Kansas City, president of the National Council of Catholic Women, will be a guest speaker Tuesday. Other speakers will be Miss Christina Helfrich of Orleans who will talk on "St. Therese;" Rev. J. J. Carey of York, who will discuss "Observations" at the luncheon; and Rev. Ralph D. Goggins, O. P., who will discuss "Modern Problems For Women Clubs;" and Bishop Louis B. Kucera of Lincoln who will tell of "Capital and Labor."

Reports of deanery presidents, committee heads and officers will fill most of the morning program and will be completed in the afternoon with the election of officers. Rev. Leslie V. Barnes will address the afternoon session on "Parent Teachers Associations."

Mrs. Roosevelt Attends Uncle's Funeral Rites

TIVOLI, N. Y., Oct. 29—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today attended the funeral of Valentine Hall, the uncle who taught her to play tennis and ride horseback and at whose home she lived as a child.

Hall died suddenly of a heart attack Saturday morning, aged 67 years. His passing occurred a few hours before Mrs. Roosevelt, on her way from Albany to Hyde Park, stopped at the Hall home to call on him.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

for repeal. You know you dare not do that. You know that the liquor traffic is a thing which God hates. Through his prophets God said "Woe to the drunkards of Ephraim." Woe unto him that puts a bottle to his neighbor's lips. Through Apostle Paul he said: "Drunkards shall not inherit the kingdom of God." The words of the flesh and manifest which are these. Adultery, drunken men, et al, of which I have told you in times past that they who do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God. You may say that you are not a drunkard—that is fine. But have you ever thought that by casting your vote for the perpetuation of the manufacture and sale of liquor you help to make drunkards?

I know the argument that many will use—liquor cannot be controlled. They argue that if liquor cannot be made and sold legally it will be made and sold illegally. I grant that, but if liquor is made and sold against my vote I am not responsible. But if made and sold by my vote I am responsible. There is no escape from that logic. If you go to the polls and vote for repeal then you will be responsible for all the evils that will be the result of repeal, so you, my fellow Christians of every or of no denomination, you had better do some hard thinking between now and election day. If you pray the Lord's prayer you had better help God answer it by your conduct.

Don't be a hypocrite. Don't call yourself a child of God if you do what God hates. Act as you pray, and let me urge upon all who have the right to vote to do so. You are not a good citizen if you do not vote, and you are not a Christian if you do not vote right. If you want God's will to be done on earth then act so that it will be done. C. S. JOHNSON.

SHALL WE STARVE?

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 25.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: I would like to ask Mr. Griswold and Mr. Simmons what party was in power from 1931 to 1932? What party between 1921 and 1924 withdrew billions of dollars out of circulation and stopped credit and put the country on a cash basis with a depleted currency and caused the producers of wealth, farmers and laborers, at least $100,000,000,000 losses in those twelve years? How about the numerous bank failures the last year of Hooverism? What kind of a wreck did President Roosevelt find? It was the worst chaotic condition in the history of the United States.

I have lived since the year the immortal Lincoln was first inaugurated and what is the record of the party fro mthe day he was assassinated but a trail of corruption and deceit. Look at the great promises that Hoover made in 1928. Is it not a pretty picture to put before the people? They ought to take and study a cartoon of the two dogs—one raised in luxury and the other half starved. Listen to a few words in the accompanying editorial. "The full service that Franklin Roosevelt has rendered to his country can never be known because it can never be proved what would have happened if the United States had lacked a man with the courage and willpower to say 'No one shall starve in America'."

Thank God that he is a man with a true spirit of charity. I do not believe that any man who has studied carefully what our president has tried to do but will admit there have been some serious mistakes made. But, compare them with the 12 previous years. Estimate the awful number who lost their all under Harding, Coolidge and Hoover ,and then count the number who have saved their homes to date under Roosevelt—then ask yourself if you want to return to those twelve years—or do you want to support the principles of a man who had the courage to say to the big financiers, "You shall not starve one human being in the United States."

DAN McCURDY.

Wet or Dry?

HAVELOCK, Nebr., Oct. 25.

To the Editor of The Lincoln Star: At Crete, one man asked Griswold his stand upon the prohibition question. Mr. Griswold says he has been asked this question about a dozen times up to this time, always by a dry. The Crete man was a wet.

Although Mr. Griswold has been asked this question many times, just as many times he has evaded the reply and refused to commit himself. Surely, as candidate for Governor, and should he by chance be elected governor, he will be called upon to act upon this question. He cannot always straddle the fence, but must come down on one side or the other—the wet or the dry. Subterfuge and evasions cannot be used in reply to direct questions. The voters of Nebraska need a direct, fearless leader, one with the courage to declare his intentions and his policies, not a political chameleon, who is wet with the wets and dry with the drys.

Mr. Cochran's honest, straightforward declaration of his policies, have excited the admiration of all. But when, from the mire of political expediency, is Mr. Griswold to declare his honest convictions? Is he wet or is he dry?

WM. B. JENKINS.

The Real Issue.

To the Editor of The Lincoln Star: It is to be feared that due to personalities and mud slinging being indulged in, the real issue in this campaign is in danger of being obscured.

The state of Nebraska gave Mr. Roosevelt a majority of 158,000 votes, the largest ever received by a presidential candidate. Can it be possible that the number of voters who have since changed their minds, is sufficient to reverse that decision? I cannot believe it.

As one republican who voted for him, I intend to vote for him again this year by supporting candidates I know he can depend on.

There are no politics involved in this contest. Rather, it is between progressive democrats and republicans on the one hand, and conservative democrats and republicans on the other.

This is the real issue and the supporters of the president should stress it to the exclusion of everything else. So it should be perfectly simple for the voters to classify themselves and be in no doubt as to how they want to vote.

CONSTANT READER.

Beware the Fool Killer.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 24.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: If "we the people of Nebraska" are so foolish as to repeal our prohibition amendment, thus bringing back "hard liquor" to our automobiles, we should cheer up, for there won't be so many of us—by another year—as even God can't save us from ourselves.

N. M. SOMMERVILLE.

GINGER ROGERS WINS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(AP)—Ginger Rogers is on her way back to Hollywood, rejoicing that she has won for movie actresses the right of privacy—at least where their masseuses are involved. She announced that her $100,000 suit against Sylvia Ulbeck had been settled out of court for a sum far less than that asked. The masseuse agreed not to use Hollywood names in commercial broadcasting, the actress said.

Remark often used by conservatives to develop reds: "But of course they can't feel suffering as we would."

73 Nebraska Couples Observe 50 Years Or More of Married Life

Seventy-three Nebraska couples who have been married fifty years or more, celebrated their wedding anniversaries in September, swelling the list for the nine months of 1934 to 686, according to records kept by H. A. Brainerd, historian of the Nebraska State Press association. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McCracken of Blair, with 66 years of married life, had been married the longest.
